DELAY BY ENGLAND.

No Reply to Wolcott Commission Before October.

MUST FIRST CONSULT WITH INDIA.

The Commissioners Declared Not to Be Discouraged by This Setback—English Business Men Opposing the Conference. Other Countries to Be Visited.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The British government has informed the American bimetallic committee that it will probably reply to the proposals of the commissioners on behalf of the United States in October.

The commissioners have been awaiting in London since their conference with the cabinet, and, desiring to know the exact position of England before opening up negotiations with other governments, they wrote to the cabinet inquiring when they might expect a decision, as they were anxious to arrange their future program.

Senator Wolcott received a reply from Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, in the course of which the chancellor expressed a fear that the British government was not yet in a position to reply to the proposals of the envoys of the United States and the French ambassador on the question of an international agreement.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach said: "It is due, both to the importance of the subject and the manner in which it has been brought before the English ministry by the representatives of the two countries, that these proposals should be very carefully examined and considered; and this process must be somewhat prolonged, owing to the time necessarily occupied in communicating with the government of India."

The chancellor of the exchequer adds that he cannot say with certainty how long these communications will take, but he hopes the cabinet will be ready to meet the envoys again early in October.

While this postponement of England's decision delays work, the American envoys do not consider it discouraging. On the contrary they think Great Britain's interest in the question justifies them in expecting that the Indian mints will be opened. They believe that The Times in opposing the reopening of the Indian mints, does not represent the government, but rather the city financial circles, which are opposed to any change. The report made to the government from the mint is understood to be favorable to silver.

The headquarters of the commission will remain in London until October. Senator Wolcott may visit Austria in the meantime and pave the way for negotiations with the Austrian government.

The commissioners do not wish to approach other governments until England's attitude is settled, as her participation in the movement, if secured, will aid in enlisting others. After receiving the English reply they will go to Austria, Germany and Russia, in that order.

James Maudsley, secretary of the co-operative spinners, forwarded to Lord Salisbury a petition representing 350 labor organizations in all the industries urging Great Britain to co-operate with other governments in the movement now on foot to secure a stable par exchange for gold and silver.

TO PROMOTE RECIPROCITY. State Department Conferring With Other Nations Under New Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The state department has sent instructions to the United States ambassadors and ministers abroad accredited to countries with which we have trade relations that would be affected by the enactment of the Dingley tariff act, directing them to communicate with the foreign offices in their respective posts the text of the act and to call attention to the section of the new tariff which provide for retaliation, reciprocity and similar arrangements. This is done in order that there may be a proper basis for the institution of negotiations looking to the consummation of some of the reciprocal agreements contemplated in the Dingley act.

The ground to be covered by the state department in these negotiations will be difficult to traverse, owing to the complexity of the subjects to be treated and the dissimilar conditions existing in various countries with which we must have to deal, yet there cannot be any delay in undertaking the task, inasmuch as congress has in terms enjoined the beginning of the negotiations "as soon as may be after the passage of this act." So far, it is said, no formal responses to our advances have been made, but from certain news items that come from Europe it is perceived that such overtures may be expected at any moment.

GERMANY AGAIN PROTESTS.

Good grounds For Objecting to Rates on German Sugar.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The German government has again entered a formal protest against the application to German sugar of section 5 of the new tariff act, by which such sugar would be taxed with a higher duty than that from other countries.

It is not denied, however, that the German sugar clearly comes within the provision of section 5 by reason of the payment of an export bounty, but the contention is made that the additional duty imposed is in effect a discrimination against German sugar, which is incompatible both with the most favored nation rights that are accorded to German productions by the treaties now in force, and also with the Saratoga agreement of Aug. 22, 1891.

Sherman Back in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Secretary Sherman has returned to the city from Amagansett, L. I. He appears refreshed and improved by his brief respite at the ocean. Secretary Sherman denied the recent statements from San Francisco that Minister Sewall had instructions to establish a protectorate over Hawaii in the event the senate failed to ratify the annexation treaty.

SILVER CAMP MEETING.

Speakers Will Will Expound the Doctrine of Bimetallicism at Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 7.—Hon. A. A. Brown of Cincinnati, who is managing the speaking for the great silver camp meeting to be held here next month under the auspices of the Bimetallic union, is in the city and announced the following list of speakers:

Hon. Pierre Hmbert, Boston; Hon. Oliver Downing, Boston; Hon. George Fred Williams, Boston; Hon. Walter L. Ramsdell, mayor of Lynn, Mass.; John Clark Ridpath of The Arena; Senator Henry Teller, Colorado; Senator William V. Allen, Nebraska; Chairman John K. Jones of the national Democratic committee; Senator Mar on Butler, North Carolina; Senator Daniel, Virginia; Congressman Benton McMillin, Tennessee; Hon. Charles A. Towne, Minnesota; Hon. H. T. Bartine, Washington D. C.; General A. J. Warner, Ohio; Congressman William Stark, Missouri; Timothy Tarsney, Michigan; Congressman Newlands, Nevada; Congressman Hartman, Montana; Hon. William Quinby, New York Journal; Hon. Champ Clark, member of congress from Missouri; Miss Nellie G. Robinson, New York; Mrs. Elizabeth Sheldon, New Haven, Conn.; Hon. Joseph G. Sibley, Pennsylvania; Congressman Bailey, Texas; Hon. Joseph Blackburn, Kentucky.

Mr. Brown says all of the gentlemen whose names are mentioned have positively agreed to be present, and that he is almost sure Hon. William Jennings Bryan will be here, although he has not heard from him direct.

Warren Is Missing.

NELSONVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—Elijan D. Warren, the hardware man closed by the sheriff, is gone. His bondsmen, C. H. Doan and C. E. Poston, filed claim against his estate for $365.94. Warren was treasurer of York township. A day or two ago the township trustees ordered an investigation of his accounts as treasurer, with the above results. An invoice taken of the seemingly large stock amounted to $3,500. Claims filed against the estate so far aggregate over $3,000. Warren is thought to be either on his way to North Dakota or Klondyke.

Unnatural Father Confessed.

TIFFIN, O., Aug. 7.—Jacob Kuhn, a well-known resident of this city, has been arrested on a warrant sworn out by his 17-year-old daughter. The girl attempted to kill herself, but was persuaded by friends to let the law punish him. Kuhn pleaded guilty to the charge and Mayor Rex refused him bail and bound him over to court. He is 48 years old. His wife died several years ago, and his daughter has been keeping house for him. Public feeling against the man is very bitter and the outcome may be very serious.

Abused by Masked Robbers.

BARNESVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—Three masked men entered the country residence of John Lyons, an aged farmer, living half a mile south of this town, and robbed him of $25 and other valuables. Mr. Lyons and his aged wife live alone. The burglars forced an entrance to the house by battering in the door with a fence rail. They choked and beat the old couple in a cruel manner to make them give up their little savings.

Monster Catfish Caught.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 7.—Dave Stahler, a merchant of this city, who is spending a week at Camp Good, just above this city, has caught the largest channel catfish ever taken out of the Ohio river here. It tipped the scales at 130 pounds. Mr. Stahler had a terrific struggle with the fish before he succeeded in landing it.

The Girl Likely to Die.

MCCONNELLVILLE, O., Aug. 7.—On complaint filed before Mayor Stewart, he has issued a warrant for the arrest of J. P. Rex of Renrock and Thomas Keys of Meigsville, charged with producing a criminal operation on Do a Cardray of Hackney. Both have left. Keys was a veterinary surgeon. The girl is in a precarious condition.

Wage Dispute Settled.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 7.—A wage difficulty of a month's standing at the Mahoning Iron company's big plate mill has been settled, and the plant will probably be in operation within a week. About 100 men are affected.

BETTER DAYS DAWNING

Dun Enthusiastic Over Continued Business Improvement.

FAILURES ARE LESS IN NUMBER.

A Large Yield of Wheat and Good Prices a Great Factor in the Growth of Trade—More Hands Employed in Iron Plants.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co. in their Weekly Review of Trade say: Four years ago, Aug. 5, 1893, the first number of Dun's Review was issued, with failures in that month amounting to over $60,000,000, while in the month just closed failures have been only $7,117,737, the smallest in any month since 1892. The statement of failures by classes of business for July and for 46 months shows that in manufacturing failures have been smaller than in any other month of the entire period, in trading smaller than in any other month except one, and in many branches of each department smaller than in most months of which records exist. The pessimists who pronounced reports of gain fictitious and misrepresenting have grown weary of such talk, and begin to see the dawn of better days.

Last month was the first for four years in which the volume of business reported by clearinghouses was larger than in the same month of 1892, and the telegraphic dispatches from all parts of the country given this week show a gratifying improvement. This is partly due to a large yield of wheat and good prices, though the crop is probably not so large nor are prices thus far as high as in 1892, but of cotton the price is higher and the yield probably larger than in that year. Other farm products are realizing good prices, and the possible decrease in yield of corn may help to market the enormous surplus brought over from last year. Liquidation of a powerful combination in wheat brought a reaction of 3 cents on Thursday, but a gain of 1½ cents occurred the day following.

It is the wrong season to expect much from industries, and yet there has been a material increase in the number of hands employed in the iron manufacture because of the satisfactory adjustment of the wage disputes with the Amalgamated association, and the opening of numerous establishments which have been waiting, while the coal miners' strikes seem each day more likely to end in a permanent settlement beneficial to both parties. Meanwhile the demand for most finished products is steadily increasing, the feature this week being large pipe contracts for Russian oil fields, Sumatra and Germany.

While consumption does not yet equal the capacity of the works in operation, and prices of iron and steel products average slightly lower, the situation is altogether more hopeful. In minor metals, the consumption of tin equals the receipts, so that prices do not change, and the visible supply is practically the same as a month ago, while exports of copper have been heavy and prevent a decline of lake below 11 cents, and realizing in lead has caused only a slight decline to 3.8 cents.

The sales of wool, as comparative returns by months show, bear little relation to the actual consumption in manufacture, but heavy liquidation since the new tariff bill was enacted gives the impression that some dealers are no longer confident of a speedy advance. Nevertheless, prices have risen during the past few weeks nearly 1 cent per pound. Manufacturers are buying but little, though they are rapidly increasing the output and are able to obtain an advance of about 10 per cent in prices of goods with rapidly increasing orders. The temporary curtailment of output by cotton mills continues, but does not yet bring improved prices for products, although the demand is generally gaining.

Failures for the week have been 237 in the United States, against 240 last year, and 29 in Canada against 32 last year.

A WARNING TO OTHERS.

Three Miners Perished on the Way Back From Alaska.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 7.—News has just reached here of the death of Chas. A. Blackstone, George Botcher and J. W. Malinque, miners, who went to Alaska in 1896 and were frozen to death in trying to make their way back to Seattle. They were last seen alive March 27. Friends from this city who went to Alaska to investigate found Blackstone's body, but no trace of the other two could be discovered.

The following statement was found on Blackstone's body: "Saturday, April 4, 1896. This is to certify that Botcher froze to death on Tuesday night, J. W. Malinque died on Wednesday forenoon, being frozen so badly. C. A. Blackstone had his ears, nose and four fingers on his right hand and two on his left frozen an inch back. The storm drove us on before it. It overtook us within an hour of the summit and drove us before it. It drove everything we had over the cliff except blankets and a moose hide, which we all crawled under. Supposed to have been 40 below zero. On Friday I started for Saltwater. I don't know how I got there without an outfit. On Saturday afternoon I gathered up everything. Have enough grub for ten days providing bad weather does not set in. Sport was blown over the cliff. I think I can hear him howl once in awhile." The bodies of Malinque and Botcher were never found.

CANADA GETTING VERY GREEDY

The United States May Retaliate For Excessive Duties Charged Miners.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Representative J. Hamilton Lewis of the state of Washington has had a conference with the treasury officials in regard to customs matters on the Alaska-Canadian frontier. Mr. Lewis said that he had received information, which he deemed trustworthy, to the effect that the Canadian commissioner of customs in council had issued a special order fixing an exorbitant rate of duty (15 cents a pound) on goods of every description brought by miners entering the Klondyke country of Alaska. If correct, this country may retaliate.

THE L. A. W. RACES.

Arthur Gardiner Did Great Work Before 15,000 People.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The opening race meet of the eighteenth annual meet of the League of American Wheelmen was held at Willow Grove park, 14 miles from this city, before 15,000 spectators. It was the most successful in the history of the organization, in attendance, enthusiasm and good racing. Several state records were smashed, and Arthur Gardiner, the Chicago crack, came within two-fifths of a second of breaking Hamilton's world's record for one mile paced. He succeeded in lowering the fast mile made by Johnny Jonson at Chicago last year by four-fifths of a second.

Gardiner was paced by two quads, one loaded with Wenzel, the Turville boys and Coburn, the other with W. E. Becker, W. L. Becker, Ozpoks and Steenson. He crossed the line like a flash and the time was caught beautifully. He never ceased his pace until the finish, made in 1:39 3-5, breaking the state record of 1:45 3-5, held by Earl Kiser.

Starbuck also took a trial at the record, paced by a quad and a trip. For the first half he made very fast time, but lost behind the trip. His time was 1:44 3-5, also breaking Kiser's record.

Both these events followed the scheduled races for the day. In the latter, the honors among the professionals were won by F. J. Longhead of Sarnia, Ont., who crossed the tape a winner in three trials, two finals and second man in a third final. In one of the finals, the one-mile professional, he broke the state competition record of 2:04 4-5, by covering the distance in 2:03 3-5. He captured the one-quarter mile championship in 32 seconds.

Among the amateurs honors were more evenly divided, with the best racing done by Peabody, Johnson, Meddenaorf, Schade, Kinck and Miller.

NO REPLY TO ELLIOTT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—John W. Foster has arrived from Europe.

After glancing at the attacks made on him by Prof. Elliott, he said:

"I do not care to express myself regarding the matter at all. The people in Washington know of the animus that actuates him, and know what his status is and what my status is."

Notwithstanding the reports that the conference in autumn of Great Britain, Japan and Russia at Washington will be one of naturalists to compare biological notes and that all reference to the existing regulations is to be expressly barred from the discussion, a passenger on the St. Louis said that Mr. Foster told him that he had the expectation of reopening the whole question in the fall, and that he has a factory assurance from Lord Salisbury to that effect.

Mr. Foster was asked about this important statement attributed to him and he refused to affirm or deny it.

Denied She Married Gould.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Melville E. Brown, an attorney of Laramie, Wyo., has filed an affidavit in which he swears that Mrs. Sarah Ann Angell, who is seeking to prove a marriage with the late Jay Gould, admitted to him that she never was married to Gould, and that he was not the father of her children.

Will Help Striking Miners.

JOLIET, Ills., Aug. 7.—The 1,900 employees of the Joliet rolling mill have decided to give one day's wages to the striking miners. Considerably over $2,000 will be netted.

Short About $10,000.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Thomas W. Scott of Fairfield, Ill., one of the commissioners of the Illinois penitentiary at Chester, who came from that city today, said there is a shortage of from $6,000 to $10,000 in the account of Orla Havill, a former clerk of that institution, who will be arrested shortly.

An Anti-Lottery Law Arrest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—George Prender, supposed to be an agent of the Honduras National Lottery company has been arrested here, charged with violating the anti-lottery law.

HELD THEM FOR COURT

Decision In Pittsburg Strike Leaders' Case.

THE SHERIFF TALKED TO THEM.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—Justice W. H. Semmens of Turtle Creek has delivered his decision in the cases brought against Patrick Dolan, William Warner, Paul Trimmer, Jacob Aufhalter, Edward McKay, Cameron Miller and Charles Shaw of the miners' union, charged with riot, rout and unlawful assemblage.

He held Patrick Dolan, Paul Trimmer, Jacob Aufhalter and Edward McKay in $300 bail each for the September term of court, and dismissed the case against William Warner, Cameron Miller and Charles Shaw.

Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry has had a conference with Patrick Dolan, Paul Trimmer and Edward McKay. He told them that he wanted them to keep their men in order and congratulated the leaders on the success that they have had. He told Dolan to be careful about allowing any of the strikers to get liquor. The sheriff said that the least trouble would turn the sympathy of the people against the diggers and the work of the last month would be lost.

The sheriff says that the national guard will not be taken to Turtle Creek so long as the present peaceful conditions exist. He realizes that if trouble does start the outcome will no doubt be serious. If troops are needed they can be gotten here very quickly, however, and Mr. Lowry does not propose to create trouble by bringing them now.

A two-hours' conference between General John A. Wiley, commanding the Second brigade, N. G. P., and Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry of Allegheny county may not mean anything at this time, but such a conference was held at the Seventh Avenue Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Eugene V. Debs addressed a big mass meeting at Turtle Creek last night.

JOINED THE STRIKERS.

More of DeArmit's Men Captured by the Marching Miners.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—A decreased number of men are at work in the DeArmit mines.

At Sandy Creek only three men are at work. The camp is thinning out and the men are going to the Plum Creek camp because their presence is not needed at Sandy Creek. The output at Sandy Creek is only two pit cars and the mine is absolutely dead.

At Plum Creek 80 men are out. The company explains that it is the custom of the men to lay off the day before pay day.

Thomas B. DeArmit says new men will be put to work in the Oakhill mine. Where the new men are to come from and when they are to be put to work are questions Mr. DeArmit declines to answer, for he did not wish to give the strikers any advantage in the matter of intercepting the new men.

A body of 300 striking miners made a successful march to the mines at Bunola, where about 350 men have been at work. These mines are located on the Monongahela river four miles below Monongahela City. The strikers were from the Black Diamond, Webster, Milesville, Catsburg and other mines. They congregated last evening, and, headed by the G. A. R. band of Monongahela City and the Webster drum corps, marched during the night to Bunola, arriving just as the diggers were about to enter the mine. The men were induced to remain out and the strikers went into camp.

When District Secretary Warner was spoken to in regard to the situation at Canonsburg and McGovern, he said that Cook & Sons have not got nearly a full force of men at work. He has no fear of the injunction being enforced and said: "We intend to obey the law, but an injunction will not restrain our men from peaceably assembling or marching on the highways. If our men are imprisoned for camping at McGovern we will send other men to take their places and keep them there as long as an attempt is made to operate the mines."

A copy of the uniformity agreement has been mailed to each coal operator who is expected to sign it. Time will be allowed them to read it over carefully and give it reasonable consideration. The committee appointed for the purpose will then go around among them for signatures.

General John Little of the Ohio state board of arbitration is elated over the success of the movement so far as it has gone. He has received promises from number of operators that they will sign, and is confident that the required number of signers can be secured.

Meanwhile the demand for most finished products is steadily increasing, the feature this week being large pipe contracts for Russian oil fields, Sumatra and Germany.

While consumption does not yet equal the capacity of the works in operation, and prices of iron and steel products average slightly lower, the situation is altogether more hopeful. In minor metals, the consumption of tin equals the receipts, so that prices do not change, and the visible supply is practically the same as a month ago, while exports of copper have been heavy and prevent a decline of lake below 11 cents, and realizing in lead has caused only a slight decline to 3.8 cents.

The sales of wool, as comparative returns by months show, bear little relation to the actual consumption in manufacture, but heavy liquidation since the new tariff bill was enacted gives the impression that some dealers are no longer confident of a speedy advance. Nevertheless, prices have risen during the past few weeks nearly 1 cent per pound. Manufacturers are buying but little, though they are rapidly increasing the output and are able to obtain an advance of about 10 per cent in prices of goods with rapidly increasing orders. The temporary curtailment of output by cotton mills continues, but does not yet bring improved prices for products, although the demand is generally gaining.

Failures for the week have been 237 in the United States, against 340 last year, and 29 in Canada against 32 last year.

A WARNING TO OTHERS.

Three Miners Perished on the Way Back From Alaska.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 7.—News has just reached here of the death of Chas. A. Blackstone, George Botcher and J. W. Malinque, miners, who went to Alaska in 1896 and were frozen to death in trying to make their way back to Seattle. They were last seen alive March 27. Friends from this city who went to Alaska to investigate found Blackstone's body, but no trace of the other two could be discovered.

The following statement was found on Blackstone's body: "Saturday, April 4, 1896. This is to certify that Botcher froze to death on Tuesday night. J. W. Malinque died on Wednesday forenoon, being frozen so badly. C. A. Blackstone had his ears, nose and four fingers on his right hand and two on his left frozen an inch back. The storm drove us on before it. It overtook us within an hour of the summit and drove us before it. It drove everything we had over the cliff except blankets and a moose hide, which we all crawled under. Supposed to have been 40 below zero. On Friday I started for Saltwater. I don't know how I got there without an outfit. On Saturday afternoon I gathered up everything. Have enough grub for ten days providing bad weather does not set in. Sport was blown over the cliff. I think I can hear him howl once in awhile." The bodies of Malinque and Botcher were never found.

CANADA GETTING VERY GREEDY

The United States May Retaliate For Excessive Duties Charged Miners.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Representative J. Hamilton Lewis of the state of Washington has had a conference with the treasury officials in regard to customs matters on the Alaska-Canadian frontier. Mr. Lewis said that he had received information, which he deemed trustworthy, to the effect that the Canadian commissioner of customs in council had issued a special order fixing an exorbitant rate of duty (15 cents a pound) on goods of every description brought by miners entering the Klondyke country of Alaska. If correct, this country may retaliate.

THE L. A. W. RAQES!

Arthur Gardiner Did Great Work Before 15,000 People.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The opening race meet of the eighteenth annual meet of the League of American Wheelmen was held at Willow Grove park, 14 miles from this city, before 15,000 spectators. It was the most successful in the history of the organization, in attendance, enthusiasm and good racing. Several state records were smashed, and Arthur Gardiner, the Chicago crack, came within two-fifths of a second of breaking Hamilton's world's record for one mile paced. He succeeded in lowering the fast mile made by Johnny Jonson at Chicago last year by four-fifths of a second.

Gardiner was paced by two quads, one loaded with Wenzel, the Turville boys and Coburn, the other with W. E. Becker, W. L. Becker, Ozpoks and Stenson. He crossed the line like a flash and the time was caught beautifully. He never ceased his pace until the finish, made in 1:39 3-5, breaking the state record of 1:45 3-5, held by Earl Kiser.

Starbuck also took a trial at the record, paced by a quad and a trip. For the first half he made very fast time, but lost behind the trip. His time was 1:44 3-5, also breaking Kiser's record.

Both these events followed the scheduled races for the day. In the latter, the honors among the professionals were won by F. J. Longhead of Sarnia, Ont., who crossed the tape a winner in three trials, two finals and second man in a third final. In one of the finals, the one-mile professional, he broke the state competition record of 2:04 4-5, by covering the distance in 2:03 3-5. He captured the one-quarter mile championship in 32 seconds.

Among the amateurs honors were more evenly divided, with the best racing done by Peabody, Johnson, Meddenaorf, Schade, Kinck and Miller.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—John W. Foster has arrived from Europe.

After glancing at the attacks made on him by Prof. Elliott, he said:

"I do not care to express myself regarding the matter at all. The people in Washington know of the animus that actuates him, and know what his status is and what my status is."

Notwithstanding the reports that the conference in autumn of Great Britain, Japan and Russia at Washington will be one of naturalists to compare biological notes and that all reference to the existing regulations is to be expressly barred from the discussion, a passenger on the St. Louis said that Mr. Foster told him that he had the expectation of reopening the whole question in the fall, and that he had secured factory assurance from Lord Salisbury to that effect.

Mr. Foster was asked about this important statement attributed to him and he refused to affirm or deny it.

Denied She Married Gould.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Melville E. Brown, an attorney of Laramie, Wyo., has filed an affidavit in which he swears that Mrs. Sarah Ann Angell, who is seeking to prove a marriage with the late Jay Gould, admitted to him that she never was married to Gould, and that he was not the father of her children.

Will Help Striking Miners.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 7.—The 1,900 employees of the Joliet rolling mill have decided to give one day's wages to the striking miners. Considerably over $2,000 will be netted.

Short About $10,000.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Thomas W. Scott of Fairfield, Ill., one of the commissioners of the Illinois penitentiary at Chester, who came from that city today, said there is a shortage of from $5,000 to $10,000 in the account of Orla Havill, a former clerk of that institution, who will be arrested shortly.

An Anti-Lottery Law Arrest.

HELD THEM FOR COURT

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—Justice W. H. Semmens of Turtle Creek has delivered his decision in the cases brought against Patrick Dolan, William Warner, Paul Trimmer, Jacob Auffhalter, Edward McKay, Cameron Miller and Charles Shaw of the miners' union, charged with riot, rout and unlawful assemblage.

He held Patrick Dolan, Paul Trimmer, Jacob Auffhalter and Edward McKay in $300 bail each for the September term of court, and dismissed the case against William Warner, Cameron Miller and Charles Shaw.

Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry has had a conference with Patrick Dolan, Paul Trimmer and Edward McKay. He told them that he wanted them to keep their men in order and congratulated the leaders on the success that they have had. He told Dolan to be careful about allowing any of the strikers to get liquor. The sheriff said that the least trouble would turn the sympathy of the people against the diggers and the work of the last month would be lost.

The sheriff says that the national guard will not be taken to Turtle Creek so long as the present peaceful conditions exist. He realizes that if trouble does start the outcome will no doubt be serious. If troops are needed they can be gotten here very quickly, however, and Mr. Lowry does not propose to create trouble by bringing them now.

A two-hours' conference between General John A. Wiley, commanding the Second brigade, N. G. P., and Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry of Allegheny county may not mean anything at this time, but such a conference was held at the Seventh Avenue Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Eugene V. Debs addressed a big mass meeting at Turtle Creek last night.

JOINED THE STRIKERS.

More of DeArmit's Men Captured by the Marching Miners.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—A decreased number of men are at work in the DeArmit mines.

At Sandy Creek only three men are at work. The camp is thinning out and the men are going to the Plum Creek camp because their presence is not needed at Sandy Creek. The output at Sandy Creek is only two pit cars and the mine is absolutely dead.

At Plum Creek 80 men are out. The company explains that it is the custom of the men to lay off the day before pay day.

Thomas B. DeArmit says new men will be put to work in the Oakhill mine. Where the new men are to come from and when they are to be put to work are questions Mr. DeArmit declines to answer, for he did not wish to give the strikers any advantage in the matter of intercepting the new men.

A body of 300 striking miners made a successful march to the mines at Bunola, where about 350 men have been at work. These mines are located on the Monongahela river four miles below Monongahela City. The strikers were from the Black Diamond, Webster, Milesville, Catsburg and other mines. They congregated last evening, and headed by the G. A. R. band of Monongahela City and the Webster drum corps, marched during the night to Bunola, arriving just as the diggers were about to enter the mine. The men were induced to remain out and the strikers went into camp.

When District Secretary Warner was spoken to in regard to the situation at Canonsburg and McGovern, he said that Cook & Sons have not got nearly a full force of men at work. He has no fear of the injunction being enforced and said: "We intend to obey the law, but an injunction will not restrain our men from peaceably assembling or marching on the highways. If our men are imprisoned for camping at McGovern we will send other men to take their places and keep them there as long as an attempt is made to operate the mines."

A copy of the uniformity agreement has been mailed to each coal operator who is expected to sign it. Time will be allowed them to read it over carefully and give it reasonable consideration. The committee appointed for the purpose will then go around among them for signatures.

General John Little of the Ohio state board of arbitration is elated over the success of the movement so far as it has gone. He has received promises from number of operators that they will sign, and is confident that the required number of signers can be secured.

The Weather.

Fair; slowly rising temperature; light northeast to east winds.

NAMES FOR THE CHAPEL

Soldiers Who Will Long Be Remembered.

A ROSTER OF THE POST

And a Record Book Where All Visitors Can Inscribe Their Names Will Be Features of the Beautiful Building at Riverview.

A decidedly interesting meeting of the Grand Army was held last night. Many old soldiers had been summoned by the adjutant, and a misstatement by a local paper, which said it was an open meeting, brought others. Although it was not intended as such, the post decided to invite all veterans to remain, since the chapel was a matter of interest to every man who shouldered a gun and did service for his country. The result of this arrangement was highly satisfactory.

The discussion as to the names which should grace the tablets to be placed in the chapel ended in the recommendation that all soldiers who enlisted in Liverpool township and all soldiers who enlisted some other place and are buried here, and all who enlisted elsewhere, lived here for a time but are not buried in Liverpool township, should be remembered. Of this last there will be but few. It was decided that membership in the Grand Army was not a consideration, the mere fact that the deceased had been a soldier entitled him to recognition. The action was the unanimous wish of those present, but, of course, is not final. That will be settled by the post.

A roster of General Lyon post, giving the name of every man who has been or is now a member of the organization, will be preserved at the chapel, and a book of record in which all visitors can inscribe their names will be faithfully kept. In it will be space for the company and regiment of every soldier who goes to the chapel. When this business was completed the visitors retired and the post continued its regular work.

The meeting was most enthusiastic and the best of feeling prevailed. It is probable that it will result in additions to the post, where they will be given a most cordial welcome. They are all interested in the chapel, and there is no reason why they should not all unite and work in the same direction.

THE BANNER DAY.

Friday Made the Boys at the Depot Work Hard.

Yesterday in the local freight yards there were 98 freight cars handled, 9 were unloaded and 18 were sent out from the depot. It is the largest day's business the outbound platform has done for some time.

The weekly report shows an increase over that of last week. The number of cars sent out from the depot for the week ending at 4 o'clock this afternoon is 96. There were 52 unloaded and 568 handled. Friday was the banner day of the week.

RETURNED TO LISBON.

Mrs. Salisbury Was Caught at the Ross Farm.

Mrs. Salisbury, who escaped from the infirmary yesterday morning, was caught near the Laughlin Ross farm at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by John Rinehart and an assistant. While being taken back to Lisbon much trouble was caused in trying to keep her in the carriage. At Lisbon the party was met by Superintendent Riddle. The woman had been on the road four hours before she was caught.

Acetylene Gas.

We are now prepared to place on the market our machines for generating acetylene gas. These machines are adapted for lighting stores, factories, churches and private residences. Small towns and farmers can now have gas as well as those in the cities, as each consumer controls his own little gas plant, which is quite inexpensive. We guarantee to furnish six times as much light at less than half the expense of ordinary gas, electric light or kerosene lamps. A first-class agent is wanted in every county to sell our machines.

Called Off the Fight.

Two boxing bouts that were to be pulled off on Babbs' island have been cancelled, at least for the present. A number of tickets were sold during the week, but last evening the promoters of the scheme decided that if they held the show it might cause trouble with one of the occupants of the island. It is possible the event will take place next week.

GIRL LIFE IN MEXICO.

She Has Considerable Freedom, but It Is of the Right Kind.

Mexican home life is unique. It differs very essentially from the domestic life of the Anglo-Saxon race, for it is founded on respect for parents. The influence of the Catholic church is powerful in maintaining a high grade of family behavior. There is a sweetness and a charm about a well ordered Mexican home which is a revelation to northern people who have imbibed a false idea of matters here. The women of the best Mexican families are naturally of a gentle disposition, but they command obedience, and rarely spoil their sons, whom they idolize. There are exceptions, but they are not enough to break down the general social discipline.

As for the girls, no reputable Mexican father or mother would allow for a moment the thought of permitting a girl of any age to be on the streets after dark unless accompanied by an older person, a trusted servant or elder brother. So, even among girls of the humbler class, there is no street strolling in the evening. They may, in warm weather, go to the alameda, or public park, when there is a band concert, but always under escort. They may go to a tertulia, or evening party, but with some competent person. They may dance, mildly flirt, on such occasions, but they are always under the watchful eye of a relative. There is plenty of proper freedom for young girls, and a larger liberty in the cities than formerly, but they are not allowed to run about without escort, and a very careful eye is kept upon them by parents and relatives, even to distant male cousins. Such a thing as a young girl or young woman of any character or family being upon the street at night, alone and unattended, is unknown. Your daughter goes to visit a friend in the afternoon and stays to tea. Then the gentleman and lady of the house, the gentleman alone or an old servant brings her home. So the streets of this big town are never the scene of foolish, flighty girls being followed and "picked up" by strangers.

And as for men who insult young girls and women, the remedy is usually a sudden and fatal one. In milder cases the newspapers give minute descriptions of the "satyr" who has insulted a lady, and the public is asked to take warning. One fellow, who, in an interior city, made an insulting remark about a lady standing at a window, was conducted to the alameda, and, in view of the chief part of the town's best society, was held down on a stone bench and caned until he yelled for mercy, and was then ordered out of town on the next train. He went. In another city a male teacher, who was "too fresh" in his conduct toward young girl pupils, was waited on by a deputation of gentlemen and asked to favor the city by his permanent absence. He, too, went.

The etiquette regarding the protection of women from molestation and insult is such as prevails in the southern states of the American Union. There is no fooling on the streets, in the theaters and public places with respectable women. There is something left here of the old Spanish idea of the sacredness of womanhood, and the line is sharply drawn between honest women and the other kind.—Boston Herald.

NO BACKSHEESH.

Arabs Will Not Accept Any Gifts From Their Desert Guests.

R. Talbot Kelly, an English artist who has lived long among the Arabs, writes and illustrates a paper entitled "In the Desert With the Bedouin," which appears in The Century. In discussing Arabian hospitality, Mr. Kelly says: I had not much time for quiet observation, as one by one all the head men of the tribe called to pay their respects to the "stranger within their gates." Taking off his shoes at the entrance, each one advanced with many salaams and, kissing my hand, uttered the single word, "Mahubbah" ("Welcome"). They then seated themselves in a long row at the other side of the tent, discussing me in undertones. No one spoke to me unaddressed, and even the sheik himself, whose guest I was, would not sit on the carpet beside me uninvited. Literally, while the guest of the Bedouin, your tent is sacred, and all the tribe are your willing servants, and, though I have repeatedly paid comparatively long visits to them, I have never yet succeeded in pressing a gift upon my host.

I remember asking the sheik Saou el Tahoui, chief of the Hanaardi Arabs, if he knew any of the pyramid Arabs at Gizeh. He replied, spitting upon the ground, "They are not Bedouins; they take backsheesh," thereby expressing his contempt for mercenary service. On another occasion, while living with the Nephaarta, the sheik Mansour Abu Nasrullah had attached to me a young Arab whose special duty it was to attend to my various wants while painting. At the end of the month I tried to induce him to accept a sovereign as backsheesh. Looking much alarmed, he exclaimed: "Oh, my master, I cannot! It is not allowed. The sheik would kill me if he knew I had accepted a gift." And all my arguments failed to persuade him to take the tip.

More than 10,000 persons are engaged in the manufacture of explosives in England. Last year 40 persons in the business were killed and 167 injured by accidents.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

A WOMAN WHO LECTURES ON HISTORICAL AND POLITICAL TOPICS.

America's Greatest Women—The House In Summer—Fighters Cowed by a Woman. Women In Kansas—Summer Dishes With Little Fire—The New Corset.

Miss Georgiana Roberts gave the first lecture of her summer tour at Rough Point, the Newport home of Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt.

The lecture was on "Japanese Traits" and was greatly enjoyed by the fashionable audience present, after which luncheon was served.

Miss Roberts was born in one of the English provinces and is best known in New York by her lectures on subjects not usually attempted by women, and which have been given in the drawing rooms of the ultra fashionable set.

Her topics have been "European Politics," "Russian History," "The

Troubles In the Transvaal and Crete," "South African Affairs," "The Complex Eastern Question In Its Political and Commercial Relations," and "A Critical Study of Life In Japan."

No other woman has ever attempted just this line of work, but her methods of presentation are so clever and brilliant, her style so comprehensive, that her audiences never fail of being interested.

Miss Roberts is well known in the social circles of London as well as of New York, and she has traveled extensively in Europe and far eastern countries, always with her eyes wide open to observe the manners and customs as well as the social, religious and political conditions of the various peoples.

She is not a bit of a bluestocking, wears handsome gowns, is graceful in manner and witty in conversation.

She will be heard this summer at nearly all the fashionable resorts—Naragansett, Bar Harbor, White mountains, Long Branch, the Catskills, Lenox and Tuxedo.—New York Tribune.

America's Greatest Women.

"Heroes when the world was young and Greece was in her prime," says Womankind, "were transported to high Olympus and worshiped by an adoring and grateful people. Heroes now that the world is fin de siecle are analyzed and explained and then given a place on the high and dusty shelves of our libraries, and even a Carlyle cannot revive the worship of them."

"Several thousand readers of Woman-kind have been engaged in the study of great American women and by their votes have decided that these ten are worthy the highest places of honor on the American Olympus:

1. Harriet Beecher Stowe.
2. Frances E. Willard.
3. Martha Washington.
4. Clara Barton.
5. Susan B. Anthony.
6. Pocahontas.
7. Mollie Pitcher.
8. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.
9. Louisa May Alcott.
10. Julia Ward Howe.

"The list is not altogether a satisfactory one, largely because of the names it omits. It is, in effect, a compromise, and, like most compromises, satisfies no one—literally no one, in this instance, for of all the persons submitting lists not one submitted these ten names, but these are the names occurring with greatest frequency in the lists."

"The contestants exhibited a wide divergency of opinion. Hundreds of women were named, many of them unknown to other than a very local fame. It is with shame that record is made of the fact that one American woman thinks 'Mrs. Fitzsimmons' is worthy a place among the ten American immortals. Not being a reader of prizefight literature, the editor declines to understand who Mrs. Fitzsimmons is."

The House In Summer.

The housekeeper of this enlightened day does not have to decide between extravagance and tomblake effects. Her home is even more charming in many instances in summer than in winter, and her family does not dread the days when awnings will charitably screen from a critical public the barren horrors of the summer interior.

When lace and velvet curtains are

packed away in the well ordered house of today, airy muslin or beaded portieres take their place. Shades of dark blue linen shut out the glare of June sunlight and cool, sweet smelling Japanese matting is placed under foot.

Cushions and pillows, with slip covers of linen or wash silk, are placed in the wicker arms and cane reclining couch and give an air of comfort devoid of any suggestion of heat.

But the greatest improvement has been in the covering for upholstered furniture or highly polished furniture. These are now made of charming cretonnes and cool tinted linens or denim, and are often far prettier than the winter coverings of gaudy brocades.

A set of covers recently made at a big shop was of cream tinted linen, striped with delicate blue and scattered with pink roses. The chairs were as carefully "fitted" as their well dressed owner was, and each cover was buttoned down the back with small pearl buttons. The piano was also fitted with a slip of the same material, and the numerous very gorgeous sofa pillows were supplied with individual covers of linen.

Fighters Cowed by a Woman.

Mrs. Eliza Archard Conner tells the following story of Miss Theresa Barcalow, who is a faithful worker for equal suffrage, a member of Sorosis and of the Ladies' Health Protective association of New York: One fine afternoon she was going to the meeting of the Health Protective society. As she came to a street corner on Broadway she saw a crowd gathered. It was muttering and growling, and occasionally howling. There was no policeman in sight. Miss Barcalow drew near to see what was the matter. In the center of the crowd she saw two young fellows fighting like wild beasts. They clawed and banged each other murderously, and in all the throng of men who stood by there was none to stop them. In fact, far from stopping them, several cheered them on. This new woman needed not a second glance. Did she faint? No. Did she scream? No. Without a moment's hesitation she parted the crowd and ran to the young fellows who were fighting. She seized each one by the back of the neck and slung them apart as she would have done two cats. They slunk away, more ashamed than they had ever been in their lives. Two bold young prizefighters to be interfered with and cowed by a woman! It was too much. Then, having stopped the brutal performance, Miss Barcalow turned upon the crowd of witnesses. In a few choice words of fine new womanly scorn she gave them her opinion of people who would permit a bloody and degrading exhibition like that in one of the busiest streets of New York. The crowd, too, slunk away and dissolved itself before the fire in her eye, the lash in her voice. After that Miss Barcalow went her way to the meeting of the Ladies' Health Protective association.—Woman's Journal.

Women In Kansas.

Yet it is said that Kansas is governed by petticoats, says William Allen White in The Atlantic. If by this it be meant that women shape the public sentiment of the Kansas town, the saying is true. In most towns in other states the corners of the principal streets are occupied by dramshops. In the town where this paper is written the influence of women has been exerted so forcibly that three of the four corners where the two main streets cross are occupied by banks. Instead of Hogan's Retreat on the fourth corner stands a bookstore. There the boys and the young men of the town find a meeting place. There they make their appointments. There they browse through the weekly illustrated papers and the magazines and look through new books. In this bookstore the football games are bulletined, the baseball games are talked over, and politics finds its forum.

Among all the men and boys who frequent this resort there is no habitual drinker. There is not one whose name has been stained with scandal. These young fellows are business men, clerks, professional men, real estate brokers and college students. They are clean, shrewd, active young men, who have been brought up in a town where the women make public sentiment, in a town of petticoat government, wherein a woman has never held an administrative municipal office. It is a town of 8,000 inhabitants without a saloon, without a strange woman, without a town drunkard.—William Allen White in Atlantic.

To cool a hot room wet thoroughly a large sheet and hang up. The temperature will go down 10 or 12 degrees. This custom is practiced in eastern lands.

A white bordered veil is far more becoming if worn upside down, the border looking exceedingly well over the toque rim.

Miss Emma Egel on July 10 was elected president of the common council of Lincoln, N. J., by a unanimous vote.

Half a dozen East Searsmont (Me.) women had a painting bee the other day and painted the new cemetery fence.

"The enemy is coming! To the fort for your lives!" When a wise man receives a plain warning of danger, he does not wait to let it overtake him; he seeks every reasonable means to fight it off.

Disease would almost never get the best of the average man if he was prepared to resist it, and took the natural precautions dictated by common sense. When a man's stomach and liver get upset and fail to do their regular work, he can be certain that something worse is bound to follow, if he doesn't look out for himself. Headaches, indigestion, biliousness and constipation are simply Nature's warnings that the enemy of serious disease is coming to attack him.

The sensible thing to do is to immediately fortify the system with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It vitalizes and invigorates the entire constitution. It helps the liver to filter out all bilious impurities. It gives the digestive and nutritive organs power to extract nourishment from the food and turn it into rich, red, healthy blood. It creates appetite, good digestion, and solid, muscular strength.

It is far superior to the mere temporary stimulus of malt-extracts. It is better than cod liver oil emulsions because it is assimilated by the weakest stomach. "About fifteen years ago," writes Mr. John McMichael, editor of the Plattsburg, (Mo.) Leader, "I was in very poor health, had no appetite, was sluggish, and so lifeless it seemed impossible for me to do anything that required effort. Every fall and spring this ill-health seemed to affect me particularly. A friend advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery asserting that it would restore me to perfect health, and make 'a new man' of me. Finally he induced me to try the medicine. I weighed at the time about 125 lbs. I used several bottles, and upon quitting a weighed 175 lbs. Since that time my weight has varied from this to 195 pounds."

A STRAY BIT OF NEWS

Picked Up on Church Alley by Our Representative.

When our readers are told that Mr. C. McLean, of 187 Church Alley, has lived amongst us for eleven years, that he conducted three years ago a brick manufactory, and retired from it to enter the East Liverpool Pottery Co.'s employ, ample proof can be produced that all this is so, for Mr. McLean is in the city to verify or contradict it. It is the same with the assertions contained in his statement that follows. You have only to interview the gentleman, when a personal corroboration will begin to what here for the first time is made public. No doubt or suspicion can be thrown on it. Such evidence must be convincing, conclusive, indisputable. Read it. Mr. McLean says: "I used to be troubled a great deal with muscular rheumatism, but the last three years the whole trouble seems to have settled in my back and kidneys, and caused much pain and suffering, the last year being the worst. I had a steady aching pain in my kidneys; extreme weakness in the muscles of the back; could not rest at night except lying flat on my back; and there was a urinary weakness accompanying it. Although I had many bad attacks and used many different medicines, I never obtained any relief. The worst attack I ever had, and which completely used me up, occurred a short time ago. Not having much faith left in medicine, I was rather skeptical when I was recommended to try Doan's Kidney Pills, but I got so bad that I had to get something, so I went for a box to the W. & W. Pharmacy. I am glad to say they are the best thing I ever tried. They went direct to the kidneys, and acted on the very fountain head of all the trouble, relieving me in a very short time. I highly recommend them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50c. per box, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

A ROSTER OF THE POST

A decidedly interesting meeting of the Grand Army was held last night. Many old soldiers had been summoned by the adjutant, and a misstatement by a local paper, which said it was an open meeting, brought others. Although it was not intended as such, the post decided to invite all veterans to remain, since the chapel was a matter of interest to every man who shouldered a gun and did service for his country. The result of this arrangement was highly satisfactory.

The discussion as to the names which should grace the tablets to be placed in the chapel ended in the recommendation that all soldiers who enlisted in Liverpool township and all soldiers who enlisted some other place and are buried here, and all who enlisted elsewhere, lived here for a time but are not buried in Liverpool township, should be remembered. Of this last there will be but few. It was decided that membership in the Grand Army was not a consideration, the mere fact that the deceased had been a soldier entitled him to recognition. The action was the unanimous wish of those present, but, of course, is not final. That will be settled by the post.

A roster of General Lyon post, giving the name of every man who has been or is now a member of the organization, will be preserved at the chapel, and a book of record in which all visitors can inscribe their names will be faithfully kept. In it will be space for the company and regiment of every soldier who goes to the chapel. When this business was completed the visitors retired and the post continued its regular work.

The meeting was most enthusiastic and the best of feeling prevailed. It is probable that it will result in additions to the post, where they will be given a most cordial welcome. They are all interested in the chapel, and there is no reason why they should not all unite and work in the same direction.

THE BANNER DAY.

Friday Made the Boys at the Depot Work Hard.

Yesterday in the local freight yards there were 98 freight cars handled, 9 were unloaded and 18 were sent out from the depot. It is the largest days business the outbound platform has done for some time.

The weekly report shows an increase over that of last week. The number of cars sent out from the depot for the week ending at 4 o'clock this afternoon is 96. There were 52 unloaded and 568 handled. Friday was the banner day of the week.

RETURNED TO LISBON.

Mrs. Salisbury Was Caught at the Ross Farm.

Mrs. Salisbury, who escaped from the infirmary yesterday morning, was caught near the Laughlin Ross farm at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by John Rinehart and an assistant. While being taken back to Lisbon much trouble was caused in trying to keep her in the carriage. At Lisbon the party was met by Superintendent Riddle. The woman had been on the road four hours before she was caught.

Acetylene Gas.

We are now prepared to place on the market our machines for generating acetylene gas. These machines are adapted for lighting stores, factories, churches and private residences. Small towns and farmers can now have gas as well as those in the cities, as each consumer controls his own little gas plant, which is quite inexpensive. We guarantee to furnish six times as much light at less than half the expense of ordinary gas, electric light or kerosene lamps. A first-class agent is wanted in every county to sell our machines.

Called Off the Fight.

Two boxing bouts that were to be pulled off on Babbs' island have been cancelled, at least for the present. A number of tickets were sold during the week, but last evening the promoters of the scheme decided that if they held the show it might cause trouble with one of the occupants of the island. It is possible the event will take place next week.

GIRL LIFE IN MEXICO.

She Has Considerable Freedom, but It Is of the Right Kind.

Mexican home life is unique. It differs very essentially from the domestic life of the Anglo-Saxon race, for it is founded on respect for parents. The influence of the Catholic church is powerful in maintaining a high grade of family behavior. There is a sweetness and a charm about a well ordered Mexican home which is a revelation to northern people who have imbibed a false idea of matters here. The women of the best Mexican families are naturally of a gentle disposition, but they command obedience, and rarely spoil their sons, whom they idolize. There are exceptions, but they are not enough to break down the general social discipline.

As for the girls, no reputable Mexican father or mother would allow for a moment the thought of permitting a girl of any age to be on the streets after dark unless accompanied by an older person, a trusted servant or elder brother. So, even among girls of the humbler class, there is no street strolling in the evening. They may, in warm weather, go to the alameda, or public park, when there is a band concert, but always under escort. They may go to a tertulia, or evening party, but with some competent person. They may dance, mildly flirt, on such occasions, but they are always under the watchful eye of a relative. There is plenty of proper freedom for young girls, and a larger liberty in the cities than formerly, but they are not allowed to run about without escort, and a very careful eye is kept upon them by parents and relatives, even to distant male cousins. Such a thing as a young girl or young woman of any character or family being upon the street at night, alone and unattended, is unknown. Your daughter goes to visit a friend in the afternoon and stays to tea. Then the gentleman and lady of the house, the gentleman alone or an old servant brings her home. So the streets of this big town are never the scene of foolish, flighty girls being followed and "picked up" by strangers.

And as for men who insult young girls and women, the remedy is usually a sudden and fatal one. In milder cases the newspapers give minute descriptions of the "satyr" who has insulted a lady, and the public is asked to take warning. One fellow, who, in an interior city, made an insulting remark about a lady standing at a window, was conducted to the alameda, and, in view of the chief part of the town's best society, was held down on a stone bench and caned until he yelled for mercy, and was then ordered out of town on the next train. He went. In another city a male teacher, who was "too fresh" in his conduct toward young girl pupils, was waited on by a deputation of gentlemen and asked to favor the city by his permanent absence. He, too, went.

The etiquette regarding the protection of women from molestation and insult is such as prevails in the southern states of the American Union. There is no fooling on the streets, in the theaters and public places with respectable women. There is something left here of the old Spanish idea of the sacredness of womanhood, and the line is sharply drawn between honest women and the other kind.—Boston Herald.

NO BACKSHEESH.

Arabs Will Not Accept Any Gifts From Their Desert Guests.

R. Talbot Kelly, an English artist who has lived long among the Arabs, writes and illustrates a paper entitled "In the Desert With the Bedouin," which appears in The Century. In discussing Arabian hospitality, Mr. Kelly says: I had not much time for quiet observation, as one by one all the head men of the tribe called to pay their respects to the "stranger within their gates." Taking off his shoes at the entrance, each one advanced with many salaams and, kissing my hand, uttered the single word, "Mahubbah" ("Welcome"). They then seated themselves in a long row at the other side of the tent, discussing me in undertones. No one spoke to me unaddressed, and even the sheik himself, whose guest I was, would not sit on the carpet beside me uninvited. Literally, while the guest of the Bedouin, your tent is sacred, and all the tribe are your willing servants, and, though I have repeatedly paid comparatively long visits to them, I have never yet succeeded in pressing a gift upon my host.

I remember asking the sheik Saoui el Tahoui, chief of the Hanaardi Arabs, if he knew any of the pyramid Arabs at Gizeh. He replied, spitting upon the ground, "They are not Bedouins; they take backsheesh," thereby expressing his contempt for mercenary service. On another occasion, while living with the Nephaarta, the sheik Mansour Abu Nasrullah had attached to me a young Arab whose special duty it was to attend to my various wants while painting. At the end of the month I tried to induce him to accept a sovereign as backsheesh. Looking much alarmed, he exclaimed: "Oh, my master, I cannot! It is not allowed. The sheik would kill me if he knew I had accepted a gift." And all my arguments failed to persuade him to take the tip.

More than 10,000 persons are engaged in the manufacture of explosives in England. Last year 40 persons in the business were killed and 167 injured by accidents.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

America's Greatest Women—The House In Summer—Fighters Cowed by a Woman. Women In Kansas—Summer Dishes With Little Fire—The New Corset.

Miss Georgiana Roberts gave the first lecture of her summer tour at Rough Point, the Newport home of Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt.

The lecture was on "Japanese Traits" and was greatly enjoyed by the fashionable audience present, after which luncheon was served.

Miss Roberts was born in one of the English provinces and is best known in New York by her lectures on subjects not usually attempted by women, and which have been given in the drawing rooms of the ultra fashionable set.

Her topics have been "European Politics," "Russian History," "The

Troubles In the Transvaal and Crete," "South African Affairs," "The Complex Eastern Question In Its Political and Commercial Relations," and "A Critical Study of Life In Japan."

No other woman has ever attempted just this line of work, but her methods of presentation are so clever and brilliant, her style so comprehensive, that her audiences never fail of being interested.

Miss Roberts is well known in the social circles of London as well as of New York, and she has traveled extensively in Europe and far eastern countries, always with her eyes wide open to observe the manners and customs as well as the social, religious and political conditions of the various peoples.

She is not a bit of a bluestocking, wears handsome gowns, is graceful in manner and witty in conversation.

She will be heard this summer at nearly all the fashionable resorts—Naragansett, Bar Harbor, White mountains, Long Branch, the Catskills, Lenox and Tuxedo.—New York Tribune.

America's Greatest Women.

"Heroes when the world was young and Greece was in her prime," says Womankind, "were transported to high Olympus and worshiped by an adoring and grateful people. Heroes now that the world is fin de siecle are analyzed and explained and then given a place on the high and dusty shelves of our libraries, and even a Carlyle cannot revive the worship of them."

"Several thousand readers of Womankind have been engaged in the study of great American women and by their votes have decided that these ten are worthy the highest places of honor on the American Olympus:

1. Harriet Beecher Stowe.
2. Frances E. Willard.
3. Martha Washington.
4. Clara Barton.
5. Susan B. Anthony.
6. Pocahontas.
7. Mollie Pitcher.
8. Elizabeth Cady Stanton.
9. Louisa May Alcott.
10. Julia Ward Howe.

"The list is not altogether a satisfactory one, largely because of the names it omits. It is, in effect, a compromise, and, like most compromises, satisfies no one—literally no one, in this instance, for all the persons submitting lists not one submitted these ten names, but these are the names occurring with greatest frequency in the lists."

"The contestants exhibited a wide divergency of opinion. Hundreds of women were named, many of them unknown to other than a very local fame. It is with shame that record is made of the fact that one American woman thinks 'Mrs. Fitzsimmons' is worthy a place among the ten American immortals. Not being a reader of prizefight literature, the editor declines to understand who Mrs. Fitzsimmons is."

The House In Summer.

The housekeeper of this enlightened day does not have to decide between extravagance and tomblake effects. Her home is even more charming in many instances in summer than in winter, and her family does not dread the days when awnings will charitably screen from a critical public the barren horrors of the summer interior.

packed away in the well ordered house of today, airy muslin or beaded portieres take their place. Shades of dark blue linen shut out the glare of June sunlight and cool, sweet smelling Japanese matting is placed under foot.

Cushions and pillows, with slip covers of linen or wash silk, are placed in the wicker arms and cane reclining couch and give an air of comfort devoid of any suggestion of heat.

But the greatest improvement has been in the covering for upholstered furniture or highly polished furniture. These are now made of charming cretonnes and cool tinted linens or denim, and are often far prettier than the winter coverings of gaudy brocades.

A set of covers recently made at a big shop was of cream tinted linen, striped with delicate blue and scattered with pink roses. The chairs were as carefully "fitted" as their well dressed owner was, and each cover was buttoned down the back with small pearl buttons. The piano was also fitted with a slip of the same material, and the numerous very gorgeous sofa pillows were supplied with individual covers of linen.

The effect of a room furnished in this manner can better be imagined than described, more particularly as this one had also large window boxes of bright flowers and several jardinières filled with palms, which gave a cool and bowlerlike effect wholly delightful and inviting.—Philadelphia Press.

Fighters Cowed by a Woman.

Mrs. Eliza Archard Conner tells the following story of Miss Theresa Barcalow, who is a faithful worker for equal suffrage, a member of Sorsosis and of the Ladies' Health Protective association of New York: One fine afternoon she was going to the meeting of the Health Protective society. As she came to a street corner on Broadway she saw a crowd gathered. It was muttering and growling, and occasionally howling. There was no policeman in sight. Miss Barcalow drew near to see what was the matter. In the center of the crowd she saw two young fellows fighting like wild beasts. They clawed and banged each other murderously, and in all the throng of men who stood by there was none to stop them. In fact, far from stopping them, several cheered them on. This new woman needed not a second glance. Did she faint? No. Did she scream? No. Without a moment's hesitation she parted the crowd and ran to the young fellows who were fighting. She seized each one by the back of the neck and slung them apart as she would have done two cats. They slunk away, more ashamed than they had ever been in their lives. Two bold young prizefighters to be interfered with and cowed by a woman! It was too much. Then, having stopped the brutal performance, Miss Barcalow turned upon the crowd of witnesses. In a few choice words of fine new womanly scorn she gave them her opinion of people who would permit a bloody and degrading exhibition like that in one of the busiest streets of New York. The crowd, too, slunk away and dissolved itself before the fire in her eye, the lash in her voice. After that Miss Barcalow went her way to the meeting of the Ladies' Health Protective association.—Woman's Journal.

Women In Kansas.

Yet it is said that Kansas is governed by petticoats, says William Allen White in The Atlantic. If by this it be meant that women shape the public sentiment of the Kansas town, the saying is true. In most towns in other states the corners of the principal streets are occupied by dramshops. In the town where this paper is written the influence of women has been exerted so forcibly that three of the four corners where the two main streets cross are occupied by banks. Instead of Hogan's Retreat on the fourth corner stands a bookstore. There the boys and the young men of the town find a meeting place. There they make their appointments. There they browse through the weekly illustrated papers and the magazines and look through new books. In this bookstore the football games are bulletined, the baseball games are talked over, and politics finds its forum.

Among all the men and boys who frequent this resort there is no habitual drinker. There is not one whose name has been stained with scandal. These young fellows are business men, clerks, professional men, real estate brokers and college students. They are clean, shrewd, active young men, who have been brought up in a town where the women make public sentiment, in a town of petticoat government, wherein a woman has never held an administrative municipal office. It is a town of 8,000 inhabitants without a saloon, without a strange woman, without a town drunkard.—William Allen White in Atlantic.

To cool a hot room wet thoroughly a large sheet and hang up. The temperature will go down 10 or 12 degrees. This custom is practiced in eastern lands.

A white bordered veil is far more becoming if worn upside down, the border looking exceedingly well over the toque rim.

Miss Emma Egel on July 10 was elected president of the common council of Lincoln, N. J., by a unanimous vote.

Half a dozen East Searsmont (Me.) women had a painting bee the other day and painted the new cemetery fence.

"The enemy is coming: To the fort for your lives!" When a wise man receives a plain warning of danger, he does not wait to let it overtake him; he seeks every reasonable means to fight it off.

Disease would almost never get the best of the average man if he was prepared to resist it, and took the natural precautions dictated by common sense.

When a man's stomach and liver get upset and fail to do their regular work, he can be certain that something worse is bound to follow, if he doesn't look out for himself. Headaches, indigestion, biliousness and constipation are simply Nature's warnings that the enemy of serious disease is coming to attack him.

The sensible thing to do is to immediately fortify the system with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It vitalizes and invigorates the entire constitution. It helps the liver to filter out all bilious impurities. It gives the digestive and nutritive organs power to extract nourishment from the food and turn it into rich, red, healthy blood. It creates appetite, good digestion, and solid, muscular strength.

It is far superior to the mere temporary stimulus of malt-extracts. It is better than cod liver oil emulsions because it is assimilated by the weakest stomach.

"About fifteen years ago" writes Mr. John M. Michael, editor of the Plattsburg, (Mo.) Leader, "I was in very poor health, had no appetite, was sluggish, and so lifeless it seemed impossible for me to do anything that required effort. Every day I was getting weaker and weaker. A friend advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery asserting that it would restore me to perfect health, and make 'a new man' of me. Finally he induced me to try the medicine. I weighed at the time about 125 lbs. I used several bottles, and upon quitting I weighed 175 lbs. Since that time my weight has varied from this to 195 pounds.

Picked Up on Church Alley by Our Representative.

When our readers are told that Mr. C. McLean, of 187 Church Alley, has lived amongst us for eleven years, that he conducted three years ago a brick manufactory, and retired from it to enter the East Liverpool Pottery Co.'s employ, ample proof can be produced that all this is so, for Mr. McLean is in the city to verify or contradict it. It is the same with the assertions contained in his statement that follows. You have only to interview the gentleman, when a personal corroboration will begin to what here for the first time is made public. No doubt or suspicion can be thrown on it. Such evidence must be convincing, conclusive, indisputable. Read it. Mr. McLean says: "I used to be troubled a great deal with muscular rheumatism, but the last three years the whole trouble seems to have settled in my back and kidneys, and caused much pain and suffering, the last year being the worst. I had a steady aching pain in my kidneys; extreme weakness in the muscles of the back; could not rest at night except lying flat on my back; and there was a urinary weakness accompanying it. Although I had many bad attacks and used many different medicines, I never obtained any relief. The worst attack I ever had, and which completely used me up, occurred a short time ago. Not having much faith left in medicine, I was rather skeptical when I was recommended to try Doan's Kidney Pills, but I got so bad that I had to get something, so I went for a box to the W. & W. Pharmacy. I am glad to say they are the best thing I ever tried. They went direct to the kidneys, and acted on the very fountain head of all the trouble, relieving me in a very short time. I highly recommend them."

WORK AT THE SHOPS

Car Men Will Make Better Time Next Week.

NEW POTTERY IS IN SIGHT

The Land Company Are Preparing to Boom East End—How the Teams Are Playing This Afternoon—No Business In Police Court.

As mentioned in yesterday's edition of the NEWS REVIEW, the car shop department of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad will go on a 60-hour a week schedule Monday morning. The shops have been working only half time, but orders came from headquarters yesterday to rush the repairs on gondola cars, so as to have them ready for the rush when the coal strike is ended. If it is found the work cannot be turned out fast enough with the present force, new men will be employed. Today the yards are empty of work, but a train of 50 cars to be repaired will come from the Allegheny shops tomorrow night, and work will be brought from Ft. Wayne and other divisions, and will be enough, no doubt, to keep the men working full time during all the month of August. When the strike is settled and freight is on the rush it will be necessary to put the entire shops on full time. There seems to be anticipation by the railroad company that the strike will be settled soon, as they are very anxious to have all the coal cars in good shape at once.

CANADA'S RAILROAD PLAN.

Project of Building a Railroad to the Goldfields.

N. E. Picotte of the Yukon country, who was in San Francisco recently, gave an interesting account of the efforts of pioneers of that locality to secure more modern means of conveyance into the land of the golden fleeces.

"While at Circle City and Forty Mile last year," says Picotte, "we considered seriously the possibility of securing aid from the Canadian government to build a railway into this district. We secured as reliable data as we could and forwarded the same to Ottawa. Finally an appropriation of $5,000 was passed by the parliament and surveys were ordered to take the field this year.

"There are two practical routes by which this country might be reached by a railway. One of these is from a point on the Canadian Pacific, the other is from Dyea. As far as we were able to ascertain, neither presents many difficulties. That from Dyea would be the shorter for the reason that only some 80 miles of road would have to be built, the rest of the route to the mines being by means of the river. Of course, during the winter season this route would be closed as far as the river is concerned. This road would do away with the difficulties of Chilkat pass. It naturally would be a closer means of communication with San Francisco, and for that reason is not likely to be favored by the Canadian government.

"The other route is about 500 miles longer, but, being entirely within the Dominion of Canada, is likely to receive earnest consideration at the hands of the government.

"The moneyed men of that section are willing to assist any enterprise of this character which will tend to develop the country. The attention of the world has been called to our country, and the idea that naught but fairy tales have been written about its wealth is being quickly dissipated."—New York Journal.

A CONVICT'S CONFESSION.

It May Free a Clergyman Charged With Murdering His Wife.

Noah Baney, a convict at the Michigan City state prison, has made a written confession which, if proved true, will have the effect of giving the Rev. W. F. Hinshaw his liberty.

Hinshaw was convicted two years ago and sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife. The tragedy was enacted at Belleville, a few miles west of Indianapolis, and the trial of Hinshaw was one of the most sensational in the state's history. According to Baney, the real murderers of Mrs. Hinshaw are John Whitney and Guy Van Tassel, both Indianapolis men. Baney's statement recites the details of the crime as told to him by Whitney and Van Tassel, who, he says, drove from Indianapolis to Belleville in his buggy. Baney says the purpose of the visit to the Hinshaw home was robbery, and that Mrs. Hinshaw was shot by Van Tassel, who shot to frighten her back into the house while she and her husband were pursuing them into the yard. Hinshaw's attorneys have held back a portion of Baney's confession for the present.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Governor Mackintosh on the Klondike.

Hon. Charles B. Mackintosh, lieutenant governor of the Northwest Territory, in which is included the far famed Klondike district, was lately in Seattle. The governor freely subscribed to the truthfulness of the stories sent out as to the richness of the new diggings. He estimates that the Klondike and its tributaries yielded over $3,000,000 in gold last winter. Of this amount he says $2,000,000 and upward came via the steamships Portland and Excelsior. More than $1,000,000 in dust, he says, is now stored away in the cabins of miners along the creek being developed.

"The British Yukon yield of gold for 1897," the governor resumed, "will not be less than $10,000,000." He says surveyors are now at work trying to ascertain the feasibility of the construction of a railroad into the Yukon. One route contemplates a line of steamers from Fort Wrangel up the Styken river.—Exchange.

A Translation.

It is related that a sophomore one commencement day was crossing the campus of Emory college, Oxford, Ga., with his sweetheart, who stopped to read the inscription upon the stone to the memory of Ignatius Few, the first president.

"What does that mean?" she asked, pointing to the line, "Vivit—non mortuus est." Proud of his ability to translate Latin, the student explained: "He lives. No, he don't; he's dead."—New York Christian Advocate.

WORK AT THE SHOPS

Car Men Will Make Better Time Next Week.

NEW POTTERY IS IN SIGHT

The Land Company Are Preparing to Boom East End—How the Teams Are Playing This Afternoon—No Business in Police Court.

As mentioned in yesterday's edition of the NEWS REVIEW, the car shop department of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad will go on a 60-hour a week schedule Monday morning. The shops have been working only half time, but orders came from headquarters yesterday to rush the repairs on gondola cars, so as to have them ready for the rush when the coal strike is ended. If it is found the work cannot be turned out fast enough with the present force, new men will be employed. Today the yards are empty of work, but a train of 50 cars to be repaired will come from the Allegheny shops tomorrow night, and work will be brought from Ft. Wayne and other divisions, and will be enough, no doubt, to keep the men working full time during all the month of August. When the strike is settled and freight is on the rush it will be necessary to put the entire shops on full time. There seems to be anticipation by the railroad company that the strike will be settled soon, as they are very anxious to have all the coal cars in good shape at once.

An Industry.

The stockholders of the land company which bought the Putnam property in the East End to give as an inducement to bring industries here, are considering propositions from companies to build a large pottery and an iron works. A meeting was called for last night, but not a sufficient number responded.

Poor Business.

Business in Mayor Jones' department has gone glimmering again. There were no cases this morning, and the jail is empty save for two bums who were taken before Justice McKenzie this morning and fined $4.50 and committed.

The News of Wellsville.

John Kountz states that there was and is no trouble between himself and his grandfather. He claims that the latter gave him a gun for the purpose of shooting a chicken, but afterwards requested him to give up the gun, asserting that they could catch the chicken. John Kountz states that he complied with his grandfather's request, whereupon the old gentleman discharged both barrels in the air; that there was no intention of doing injury to either himself or his grandfather. John Kountz avers that some maliciously inclined enemy is trying to do him injury by spreading false reports concerning him.

A Big Pay.

This is big pay, and a big one it is for some of the potteries. In some plants there has been no pay day since the vacation, and in others employees have been working overtime. Business men anticipate good trade tonight.

Some Big Picnics.

Manager Al McDonald has booked a number of good picnics for Rock Spring next week. Next Thursday a great many people from Allegheny are expected, and there will be other parties not so large earlier in the week.

CANADA'S RAILROAD PLAN.

Project of Building a Railroad to the Goldfields.

N. E. Picotte of the Yukon country, who was in San Francisco recently, gave an interesting account of the efforts of pioneers of that locality to secure more modern means of conveyance into the land of the golden fleece.

"While at Circle City and Forty Mile last year," says Picotte, "we considered seriously the possibility of securing aid from the Canadian government to build a railway into this district. We secured as reliable data as we could and forwarded the same to Ottawa. Finally an appropriation of $5,000 was passed by the parliament and surveyors were ordered to take the field this year.

"There are two practical routes by which this country might be reached by a railway. One of these is from a point on the Canadian Pacific, the other is from Dyea. As far as we were able to ascertain, neither presents many difficulties. That from Dyea would be the shorter for the reason that only some 80 miles of road would have to be built, the rest of the route to the mines being by means of the river. Of course, during the winter season this route would be closed as far as the river is concerned. This road would do away with the difficulties of Chilkat pass. It naturally would be a closer means of communication with San Francisco, and for that reason is not likely to be favored by the Canadian government.

"The other route is about 500 miles longer, but, being entirely within the Dominion of Canada, is likely to receive earnest consideration at the hands of the government.

"The moneyed men of that section are willing to assist any enterprise of this character which will tend to develop the country. The attention of the world has been called to our country, and the idea that naught but fairy tales have been written about its wealth is being quickly dissipated."—New York Journal.

A CONVICT'S CONFESSION.

It May Free a Clergyman Charged With Murdering His Wife.

Noah Baney, a convict at the Michigan City state prison, has made a written confession which, if proved true, will have the effect of giving the Rev. W. F. Hinshaw his liberty.

Hinshaw was convicted two years ago and sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife. The tragedy was enacted at Belleville, a few miles west of Indianapolis, and the trial of Hinshaw was one of the most sensational in the state's history. According to Baney, the real murderers of Mrs. Hinshaw are John Whitney and Guy Van Tassel, both Indianapolis men. Baney's statement recites the details of the crime as told to him by Whitney and Van Tassel, who, he says, drove from Indianapolis to Belleville in his buggy. Baney says the purpose of the visit to the Hinshaw home was robbery, and that Mrs. Hinshaw was shot by Van Tassel, who shot to frighten her back into the house while she and her husband were pursuing them into the yard. Hinshaw's attorneys have held back a portion of Baney's confession for the present.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Governor Mackintosh on the Klondike.

Hon. Charles B. Mackintosh, lieutenant governor of the Northwest Territory, in which is included the far famed Klondike district, was lately in Seattle. The governor freely subscribed to the truthfulness of the stories sent out as to the richness of the new diggings. He estimates that the Klondike and its tributaries yielded over $3,000,000 in gold last winter. Of this amount he says $2,000,000 and upward came via the steamships Portland and Excelsior. More than $1,000,000 in dust, he says, is now stored away in the cabins of miners along the creek being developed.

"The British Yukon yield of gold for 1897," the governor resumed, "will not be less than $10,000,000." He says surveyors are now at work trying to ascertain the feasibility of the construction of a railroad into the Yukon. One route contemplates a line of steamers from Fort Wrangel up the Styken river.—Exchange.

A Translation.

It is related that a sophomore one commencement day was crossing the campus of Emory college, Oxford, Ga., with his sweetheart, who stopped to read the inscription upon the stone to the memory of Ignatius Few, the first president.

"What does that mean?" she asked, pointing to the line, "Vivit—non mortuus est." Proud of his ability to translate Latin, the student explained: "He lives. No, he don't; he's dead."—New York Christian Advocate.

DIED IN A MINUTE

Christian Ackerman Was Quarreling With Mrs. Jackson.

INQUEST HELD LAST NIGHT

The Woman Was Detained Under Lock and Key Until Coroner Straughn Had Heard Sufficient Evidence to Cause the Conviction That the Deceased Had Come to His Death Because of Heart Disease, Superinduced by Excitement.

From 7 o'clock last evening until 2 o'clock this morning a woman sat in the office of Clerk J. N. Hanley at city hall. She had passed the prime of life, and the deep lines which furrowed her face showed too plainly that hers had not all been a time of pleasure. Her clothes were plain, and at intervals she buried her face in her gingham apron, sobbing as though her heart would break. The door was locked, for Mrs. Mary Jackson, whose first husband had died and who had secured a divorce from the other man to whom she had been married, was being held until Coroner Straughn would decide whether Christian Ackerman had died at her hands.

The affair had occurred early in the evening. Mrs. Jackson, who has lived here since she came from Staffordshire 28 years ago as the wife of William Jackson, who was employed at the Baggott pottery as turner, had been spending the day with her daughter, Mrs. Otto Schmitbauer, in Third street. Across the alley in a house owned by George C. Murphy resided Christian Ackerman, an old German peddler, and his wife. The parties had occasionally quarreled, but in a short time had ceased to be enemies and there was no more dissension until another quarrel came. Ackerman, it seems, was angry because he had come from a day in Irondale and found that his wife had not returned from her work. Mrs. Schmitbauer threw some water into the alley, and Ackerman, who sat at the side door of his house only a few feet away, flew into a rage. From that the quarrel grew until Mrs. Jackson crossed the alley, intending to complain to Mr. Murphy. Ackerman became even more angry at this, and advanced to the gate near the house through which she would be compelled to pass. She opened the gate. Mrs. Ackerman said Mrs. Jackson struck him, but the other witnesses did not see that portion of the altercation. After a minute the man staggered back and fell in his own doorway while Mrs. Jackson swept through the yard and stood on the porch of the house occupied by F. H. Croxall. He heard Ackerman fall, and hastening to the spot found him dying. Assistance was summoned, and the old man carried to his bed. Chief Johnson and Officer Jennings saw the trouble from city hall, and hastening to the scene took Mrs. Jackson in charge. A crowd collected at once, and Coroner Straughn was summoned from Lisbon. No charge was made against Mrs. Jackson, she was simply detained to await the result of the inquest. She was released at 2:30 o'clock this morning, the coroner being convinced that she was not responsible for Ackerman's death.

MRS. JACKSON RELEASED.

The Testimony Cleared Her of Any Blame.

Although Coroner Straughn was notified soon after 7 o'clock and his way across the hills was lighted by the moon, he did not reach the city until 11 o'clock, and it was half an hour later before he was comfortably seated in the little house occupied by the dead man on Third street.

The front room was well filled with friends of the family and officers when the coroner began. On a bed in one corner lay the body of the old peddler, while the coroner and his papers occupied a table in another corner.

"I am 59 years old," said Mrs. Teresa Ackerman, "and I was here when the fuss occurred. I saw the woman was mad, and they started fighting. He had brought a bucket of water and rinsed out the bucket, and she got mad and called him devil and everything. She came across the alley and he stopped her. The second time she said she would go. She struck him more than once, and he fell down. In a couple of minutes he was dead. I went to assist him but could do nothing for him. She didn't say anything then but went away. My husband had heart trouble five or six years. She knew it and had no business to excite him. If he had not been excited he would not now be dead. I don't know whether the cut on his face was caused by falling or by the blow."

"I was sitting at my house on the other side of Third street," said Thomas Eaton, a plasterer, "and heard them quarrel for several minutes. Then Mrs. Jackson crossed the alley, and Ackerman went to her and asked her what she wanted. She replied she was going to Croxall's. He ordered her to go around by the street, but she said she would not. He held the gate shut, and she turned to open it. They scuffled and she overpowered him, and opened it. I saw no blows struck, he held the gate and she tried to open it. She pulled it open, and pushed him with it. He whirled around and fell in his own doorway. She had gone through the gate before he fell. She had a child in her arms. It seemed to me that he gave up the struggle, and then staggered away." The witness expressed the belief that excitement caused Ackerman's death.

I was called about 7 o'clock and made an examination," said Dr. J. T. Elliot. "He was pulseless and the heart was not beating. There was a little scratch on the face. I can't tell whether it was caused by the fall. I noticed a dropsical condition, and had I known he suffered with heart disease I would say he died from that cause. No, there is no way to measure the anger and excitement necessary to produce death. I found nothing externally that would cause death."

"I was at home about 6:30 o'clock when I heard voices as of persons quarreling," was the way F. H. Croxall began. "I recognized the voice of the deceased. In a little while Mrs. Jackson came in and said Ackerman would not allow her to pass. Then I heard a fall, and a scream, and thought he had assaulted his wife. I ran into the alley, and saw him lying on his face. I placed him in a sitting position. A crowd gathered, and with the help of other men I carried him into the house. I went home to call a doctor by telephone, and when I returned he was dead. From his appearance I believed he had fallen in a fit."

Officer Jennings testified that he came after the death, and that Ackerman had frequently spoken to him of being in ill health. That ended the hearing at the house, and Coroner Straughn went to city hall where he saw Mrs. Jackson. The poor woman was nervous and excited, but told the same story she had given the NEWS REVIEW earlier in the evening.

"I was sitting on the porch at my daughter's house with the baby, and she was in the cellar. She had thrown two buckets of ice water into the alley and Ackerman began to swear. I went in to supper, and he came and looked into the window. My daughter's little boy had left his hobby horses outside, and Ackerman put them on the bank. The baby went out there and fell, and I said Criss ought to attend to his own business. He got very much excited, and I said I would have to go for the mayor. He was in an awful passion. I decided to go for Mr. Murphy, but he went to the gate and put his hands on it. I opened the gate and went through to Croxall's house. I was there when he fell. I never even touched him. I think he was out of humor because his wife was late coming home. He was at the gate with a bucket and made her go for beer. He has often had these spells, but in five minutes would be all right. I think it was his passion which caused his death. I was not angry and I did not strike him."

Coroner Straughn believed that this testimony would answer every purpose, and he told Mrs. Jackson she was free. He did not deem it necessary to order an autopsy. This morning he took the testimony of Mrs. Schmitbauer, but it was much the same as that of her mother. The verdict is that Ackerman came to his death by heart disease superinduced by excitement.

THE DEAD MAN.

He For Many Years Lived In This City.

Christian Ackerman was born in Wurttemberg, Germany, 66 years ago, and in 1863 he moved to New York. From there he went to Cleveland, and six years later moved to this place. He was employed as saggermaker at Morley's pottery, but six years ago was compelled to quit work because of his health. He then became a peddler, and as such was well known in the city and vicinity. His wife has been adding to the family purse by doing housework.

Mrs. Jackson was divorced from her second husband, Mr. Small recently. Her only child is Mrs. Schmitbauer. She lives in her own house on Market street, and worked for years in the potteries. For some time she has been doing housework. Her daughter has not been well, and she spent much of her time there. That accounts for her frequent quarrels with Ackerman.

Judge Scrubbed the Bible.

Justice of the Peace Lewis R. McCulloch was presiding in the Hoboken (N. J.) police court the other day. A policeman was called to take the oath, took the grimy old Bible in his hand, but failed to press his lips to its soiled cover.

Justice McCulloch saw the cop's action. After court he took up the book, and turning to the fly leaf read the inscription, "Dec. 1, 1870."

He sent for a bottle of ammonia, some soap and water and a scrubbing brush. Then he gave the Bible a thorough cleansing.

At the service the other morning he gave the substance of the communication, which came through the British consulate general, and spoke of the courtesy which had always characterized the queen in all her relations at home and abroad. Dr. De Costa said that he recognized with pleasure the great help afforded him by F. W. Smythe, organist, and his special choir, as well as by the members of the British societies and the support of the congregation.—New York Tribune.

Reed's Parliamentary Rules.

The demand for "Reed's Parliamentary Rules" has been sufficient to call for a new edition. In answer to some inquiries Speaker Reed said: "The sales of the book have been satisfactory, considering the fact that it was published at the beginning of the recent hard times, and also that its scope and purpose were not generally or well understood. A great many persons formed an idea that it related simply to the rules and practice of the house of representatives, whereas it was designed to be and is a treatise on parliamentary law and practice. That fact, I think, is beginning to be better understood than it was. At any rate, I have no reason to complain that the book is not well received or that the demand for it is not satisfactory."—Exchange.

DIED IN A MINUTE

Christian Ackerman Was Quarreling With Mrs. Jackson.

INQUEST HELD LAST NIGHT

The Woman Was Detained Under Lock and Key Until Coroner Straughn Had Heard Sufficient Evidence to Cause the Conviction That the Deceased Had Come to His Death Because of Heart Disease, Superinduced by Excitement.

From 7 o'clock last evening until 2 o'clock this morning a woman sat in the office of Clerk J. N. Hanley at city hall.
She had passed the prime of life, and the deep lines which furrowed her face showed too plainly that hers had not all been a time of pleasure. Her clothes were plain, and at intervals she buried her face in her gingham apron, sobbing as though her heart would break. The door was locked, for Mrs. Mary Jackson, whose first husband had died and who had secured a divorce from the other man to whom she had been married, was being held until Coroner Straughn would decide whether Christian Ackerman had died at her hands.

The affair had occurred early in the evening. Mrs. Jackson, who has lived here since she came from Staffordshire 28 years ago as the wife of William Jackson, who was employed at the Baggett pottery as turner,
had been spending the day with her daughter, Mrs. Otto Schmitbauer, in Third street. Across the alley in a house owned by George C. Murphy resided Christian Ackerman, an old German peddler, and his wife. The parties had occasionally quarreled, but in a short time had ceased to be enemies and there was no more dissension until another quarrel came. Ackerman, it seems, was angry because he had come from a day in Irondeau and found that his wife had not returned from her work. Mrs. Schmit-bauer threw some water into the alley,
and Ackerman, who sat at the side door of his house only a few feet away, flew into a rage. From that the quarrel grew until Mrs. Jackson crossed the alley, intending to complain to Mr.
Murphy. Ackerman became even more angry at this, and advanced to the gate near the house through which she would be compelled to pass.
She opened the gate. Mrs. Ackerman said Mrs. Jackson struck him, but the other witnesses did not see that portion of the altercation. After a minute the man staggered back and fell in his own doorway while Mrs. Jackson swept through the yard and stood on the porch
of the house occupied by F.
H. Croxall. He heard Ackerman fall, and hastening to the spot found him dying. Assistance was summoned, and the old man carried to his bed. Chief Johnson and Officer Jennings saw the trouble from city hall, and hastening to the scene took Mrs. Jackson in charge.
A crowd collected at once, and Coroner
Straughn was summoned from Lisbon.
No charge was made against Mrs. Jackson, she was simply detained to await the result of the inquest. She was released at 2:30 o'clock this morning, the coroner being convinced that she was not responsible for Ackerman's death.

MRS. JACKSON RELEASED.

The Testimony Cleared Her of Any Blame.

Although Coroner Straughn was notified soon after 7 o'clock and his way across the hills was lighted by the moon, he did not reach the city until 11 o'clock, and it was half an hour later before he was comfortably seated in the little house occupied by the dead man on Third street.

The front room was well filled with friends of the family and officers when the coroner began. On a bed in one corner lay the body of the old peddler,
while the coroner and his papers occupied a table in another corner.

"I am 59 years old" said Mrs. Teresa Ackerman, "and I was here when the fuss occurred. I saw the woman was mad, and they started fighting. He had brought a bucket of water and rinsed out the bucket, and she got mad and called him devil and everything. She came across the alley and he stopped her.
The second time she said she would go. She struck him more than once, and he fell down. In a couple of minutes he was dead. I went to assist him but could do nothing for him. She didn't say anything then but went away. My husband had heart trouble five or six years. She knew it and had no business to excite him. If he had not been excited he would not now be dead. I don't know whether the cut on his face was caused by falling or by the blow."

"I was sitting at my house on the other side of Third street," said Thomas Eaton, a plasterer, "and heard them quarrel for several minutes. Then Mrs.
Jackson crossed the alley, and Ackerman went to her and asked her what she wanted. She replied she was going to Croxall's. He ordered her to go around by the street, but she said she would not. He held the gate shut, and she turned to open it. They scuffled and she overpowered him, and opened it. I saw no blows struck, he held the gate and she tried to open it. She pulled it open, and pushed him with it. He whirled around and fell in his own doorway.
She had gone through the gate before he fell. She had a child in her arms. It seemed to me that he gave up the struggle, and then staggered away." The witness expressed the belief that excitement caused Ackerman's death.

I was called about 7 o'clock and made an examination," said Dr. J. T. Elliot.
"He was pulseless and the heart was not beating. There was a little scratch on the face. I can't tell whether it was caused by the fall. I noticed a dropsical condition, and had I known he suffered with heart disease I would say he died from that cause. No, there is no way to measure the anger and excitement necessary to produce death. I found nothing externally that would cause death."

"I was at home about 6:30 o'clock
when I heard voices as of persons quarreling," was the way F. H. Croxall declared. "I recognized the voice of the deceased. In a little while Mrs. Jackson came in and said Ackerman would not allow her to pass. Then I heard a fall, and a scream, and thought he had assaulted his wife. I ran into the alley, and saw him lying on his face. I placed him in a sitting position. A crowd gathered, and with the help of other men I carried him into the house. I went home to call a doctor by telephone, and when I returned he was dead. From his appearance I believed he had fallen in a fit."

Officer Jennings testified that he came after the death, and that Ackerman had frequently spoken to him of being in ill health. That ended the hearing at the house, and Coroner Straughn went to city hall where he saw Mrs. Jackson. The poor woman was nervous and excited, but told the same story she had given the News Review earlier in the evening.

"I was sitting on the porch at my daughter's house with the baby, and she was in the cellar. She had thrown two buckets of ice water into the alley and Ackerman began to swear. I went in to supper, and he came and looked into the window. My daughter's little boy had left his hobby horses outside, and Ackerman put them on the bank. The baby went out there and fell, and I said Criss ought to attend to his own business. He got very much excited, and I said I would have to go for the mayor. He was in an awful passion. I decided to go for Mr. Murphy, but he went to the gate and put his hands on it. I opened the gate and went through to Croxall's house. I was there when he fell. I never even touched him. I think he was out of humor because his wife was late coming home.
He was at the gate with a bucket and made her go for beer. He has often had these spells, but in five minutes would be all right. I think it was his passion which caused his death. I was not angry and I did not strike him."

Coroner Straughn believed that this testimony would answer every purpose,
and he told Mrs. Jackson she was free.
He did not deem it necessary to order an autopsy. This morning he took the testimony of Mrs. Schmitbauer, but it was much the same as that of her mother. The verdict is that Ackerman came to his death by heart disease super-induced by excitement.

THE DEAD MAN.

He For Many Years Lived In This City.

Christian Ackerman was born in Wurttemberg, Germany, 66 years ago, and in 1863 he moved to New York.
From there he went to Cleveland, and six years later moved to this place. He was employed as saggermaker at Morley's pottery, but six years ago was compelled to quit work because of his health. He then became a peddler, and as such was well known in the city and vicinity. His wife has been adding to the family purse by doing housework.

Mrs. Jackson was divorced from her second husband, Mr. Small recently.
Her only child is Mrs. Schmitbauer. She lives in her own house on Market street,
and worked for years in the potteries.
For some time she has been doing housework. Her daughter has not been well, and she spent much of her time there.
That accounts for her frequent quarrels with Ackerman.

THE AUTOPSY.

Physicians.

Before Doctor Ikirt went to Atlantic City a few weeks ago Ackerman told him that when he died he wanted the doctor to hold an autopsy, and this morning the arrangements were made.
It is in progress at 4 o'clock. The phydrews, Calhoun, Marshall, Toot and Beane.

Judge Scrubbed the Bible.

Justice of the Peace Lewis R. McCulloch was presiding in the Hoboken (N.
J.) police court the other day. A policeman was called to take the oath, took the grimy old Bible in his hand, but failed to press his lips to its soiled cover.

Justice McCulloch saw the cop's action. After court he took up the book, and turning to the fly leaf read the inscription, "Dec. 1, 1870."

He sent for a bottle of ammonia,
some soap and water and a scrubbing brush. Then he gave the Bible a thorough cleansing.

"Now," said the justice after he had finished, "it's clean at any rate, and I guess it will see another 26 years of service."

Miss Lilian Pike of Arkansas, a clerk
at Washington in the office of the coast and geodetic survey, has just defeated
the brightest young man in the office
in a difficult mathematical examination. Secretary Gage needed an expert mathematician in the treasury, and the young man and woman were both applicants. To decide which should have the place he directed a difficult examination, in which Miss Pike got a percentage of 94 and the man 84. The young woman got the place.

The Queen Thanks Dr. De Costa.

Queen Victoria has sent through the British consulate at New York her thanks to those of her subjects in this country who celebrated the jubilee anniversary of her reign. The Rev. Dr.
Benjamin F. De Costa has received an acknowledgment from the queen of the jubilee services held in the church of St. John the Evangelist in that city, of which Dr. De Costa is the rector. At the service the other morning he gave the substance of the communication, which came through the British con-sulate general, and spoke of the courtesy which had always characterized the queen in all her relations at home and abroad. Dr. De Costa said that he recognized with pleasure the great help afforded him by F. W. Smythe, organist, and his special choir, as well as by the members of the British societies and the support of the congregation.—

Reed's Parliamentary Rules.

The demand for "Reed's Parliamentary Rules" has been sufficient to call for a new edition. In answer to some inquiries Speaker Reed said: "The sales of the book have been satisfactory, considering the fact that it was published at the beginning of the recent hard times, and also that its scope and purpose were not generally or well understood. A great many persons formed an idea that it related simply to the rules and practice of the house of representatives, whereas it was designed to be and is a treatise on parliamentary law and practice. That fact, I think, is beginning to be better understood than it was. At any rate, I have no reason to complain that the book is not well received or that the demand for it is not satisfactory."—Exchange.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTOR

The Fourth Was Added to the Corps—A Greeze About White Lead—Paying For Counting the Children—An Evening of Business.

The board of education convened last evening at 8:40, with all members present. Member Fisher read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer, and the minutes were approved.

President Vodrey reported that the building committee had awarded the contract for the Bradshaw building to the J. T. Smith Lumber company for $1,480, and for remodeling the Sheridan avenue property to Robert Hall at a cost of $213. The stone work was awarded to Davis & Rhodes at $2.20 a perch. Their action was ratified, and Mr. Cripps called attention to the fact that it was time to elect a truant officer and moved the selection of Mr. Beardmore. The motion was seconded by Mr. Pittinger. Mr. Murphy said as there was a number of candidates he thought it would be best to ballot and give all a chance. Mr. McClain moved as an amendment that the board proceed to ballot. After waiting a short time President Vodrey ordered the roll call, and Mr. McGraw then seconded the motion of Mr. McClain. He was informed that the roll call had been ordered, and his second was out of order. Mr. McClain did not like this, and said while he could not vote for Mr. Beardmore he wanted to vote for someone else. The roll call resulted in the election of Mr. Beardmore by a vote of 5 to 3, Messrs. McGraw, McClain and Murphy voting no.

Mr. Cripps thought the schools should have a musical director, and Mr. Fisher wanted to know if it would require all the time of a man. Mr. Vodrey replied that the teacher would have no time to go fishing, and Mr. McClain wanted to know if provision had not been made for all the funds of the board. After Mr. Vodrey remarked that he liked music, but that money was scarce, the subject was dropped.

Mr. Murphy, as chairman of the committee appointed to place the teachers, reported as follows:

Central building—High school, Miss Updegraff, $80; Miss McVay, $66.66; Miss Nora Madden, $50; Miss Henry, $50. Ninth grade, Miss Roach, $45; Miss Jones, $32.50. Eighth grade, Miss Anna Austin, $45; Miss Sara McKenty, $32.50. Seventh grade, Miss Smith, $45; Miss McHenry, $37.50. Sixth grade, Miss Buchanan, $37.50; Miss Bowers, $45. Fifth grade, Mrs. Hayes, $42.50. Fourth grade, Miss Isabelle McClain, $30. Third grade, Miss Laura Conkle, $45; Miss Sara Hall, $32.50. Second grade, Miss Clara Williams, $37.50; Miss Beal, $42.50. First grade, Miss Lina Joseph, $32.50; Miss Anna Myers, $45.

Bradshaw Addition—Miss Dawson, principal, $45; Miss Webster, $30.

Sixth street—Miss Gardner, principal, $50; Miss Baum, $32.50; Miss Hall, $45; Miss Kleinogle, $32.50; Miss Houston, $32.00; Miss Knowles, $42.50; Miss Calieba, $37.50; Miss Howard, $30.

Grant Street—Miss Haker, principal, $40; Miss Morgan, $35; Miss Simms $32.50.

Gardendale—Mrs. Ella Shaw, $45.

Trentvale—Miss Charlotte Rose, $40.

East End—Miss Gaver, principal, $35; Miss Fowler, $42.50; Miss Esterly, $32.50; Miss Martin, $32.50; Miss Hanley, $30.

Sheridan avenue—Miss Stevenson, principal, $35; Miss Bennett, $30.

Third street—Miss Griggs, principal, $45; Miss Thompson, $37.50; Miss Phillips, $32.50; Miss Gould, $42.50.

West End—Miss Croft, principal, $37.50; Miss Finley, $37.50; Miss Coleman, $30; Miss Faulk, $32.50.

Professor Rayman, $1,800.

The report was received, and the committee recommended that the principals of the schools should be advanced $5 a year, instead of $2.50, as it only meant a matter of $12.50 per month. The recommendation was adopted. The committee reported that all the teachers had certificates except Miss Joseph and Miss McClain. The contract with Miss Madden had never been ratified, and it was decided to engage her if she passes the examination. Miss Andrews will go on the substitute list.

The report of the enumeration was accepted, and after a short talk about the work of painting the buildings Mr. McGraw moved those who had completed their jobs be paid after they had received an order from the committee.

Mr. McClain here stated that he had watched the work of Mr. Crites very closely, and was confident that he did not use Beamer & Bauman's lead, as stipulated in the specifications. He said he had entered the paint shop one day, and a 100-pound keg of Eclipse lead had just been opened. He tore the paper brand off the top of the keg and put it in his pocket, and put a private mark on the keg. A few days later the same keg was delivered to the West End school house. He said that he had talked with Mr. Crites in the evening, and he said he had used Beamer & Bauman's lead, but the member said he would not endorse the bill until it was further investigated.

"If Mr. Crites said he used Beamer & Bauman's lead, I would believe him as soon as Mr. McClain.

Doctor Norris said several parties had told him it was Eclipse lead, but the bill submitted by Mr. Crites showed he had purchased B. B. lead. Mr. Vodrey wanted to know if there was anything wrong with the makers of the bill, and the motion made by Mr. McGraw passed. The enumerator was given $60 for his work and the board adjourned.

After the meeting the seat committee met and awarded the contract to the Piqua concern for 306 seats at a cost of $741.20.

NO AGREEMENT.

Manufacturers and Operatives Talked Until After Midnight.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 7.—The operative and manufacturing potters held a conference last night which lasted until 12:30 o'clock, but no conclusion was reached, although the 12½ per cent increase was discussed. The manufacturers talk of March 1 as the date when the old rate can be restored. There seems to be nothing in sight yet. They say it is impossible to tell when the selling price of ware can be advanced. The operatives of Trenton and East Liverpool held two conferences this morning, and will meet the manufacturers this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Heirs to Vast Mining Lands.

Mrs. Mary Glor of Lagrange county, Ind., and Sarah Myers and John Keefer of Rome City have just been notified that they are heirs to a vast estate situated near Danville, Montour county, Pa.

The estate consists of lands right in the midst of the coal regions and has a valuable mine. There are only five heirs, the other two living near Lawton, Mich.

The estate was left by Keefer's father's grandfather to his father and his heirs. The heirs could give no idea of the amount of the estate further than to say that the Pennsylvania Railway company had offered $500,000 for 500 acres of the land.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Lawyer Reduces His Own Fee.

Judge Hudspeth in the Hudson county (N. J.) orphans' court recently, in announcing his decision in a will case in which only a small estate was involved, said he would allow James Gordon, one of the lawyers in the case, $200 for his services. Counselor Gordon surprised the court by saying the amount was too much.

"I think $100 would be about the correct sum," he added.

"Well," said Judge Hudspeth, "if you demur the court will sustain the demurrer."

The amount was then fixed at $100.

A Farmer's Helper Becomes Suddenly Rich

Walter L. Cochran, who has been doing chores for the farmers near Trenton, has come into a fortune. He had been working for Peter Hughes for several weeks, when he received a letter announcing the death of his father, who had left an estate worth $250,000, of which he was entitled to a part. He received his share in the shape of an annuity and a lump sum of $20,000 to establish some business.

He received his money the other day. He gave to his former employer a gold watch and has now gone to see some of the world.

The Time Is Short.

The question of the hour is, are you in the market for the best line of clothing in America? We must sell this stock at some low price. We have a customer for our stock when reduced to a certain point.

We are nearing that point very rapidly therefore, we say again the time is short, and if you are needing a spring suit, now is your opportunity to purchase at less price than manufacturer's price. Remember all is for sale, stock, fixtures and lease. All must go quickly at some price, as we are positively retiring from the business, and anxious to do so as quickly as possible. We say you can get prices of us that no firm in the state of Ohio can offer. Don't delay. This is an important matter for you.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS

Principals Will Get a Little More Money.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTOR

The Fourth Was Added to the Corps—A Greeze About White Lead—Paying For Counting the Children—An Evening of Business.

The board of education convened last evening at 8:40, with all members present. Member Fisher read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer, and the minutes were approved.

President Vodrey reported that the building committee had awarded the contract for the Bradshaw building to the J. T. Smith Lumber company for $1,480, and for remodeling the Sheridan avenue property to Robert Hall at a cost of $213. The stone work was awarded to Davis & Rhodes at $2.20 a perch. Their action was ratified, and Mr. Cripps called attention to the fact that it was time to elect a truancy officer and moved the selection of Mr. Beardmore. The motion was seconded by Mr. Pittinger. Mr. Murphy said as there was a number of candidates he thought it would be best to ballot and give all a chance. Mr. McClain moved as an amendment that the board proceed to ballot. After waiting a short time President Vodrey ordered the roll call, and Mr. McGraw then seconded the motion of Mr. McClain. He was informed that the roll call had been ordered, and his second was out of order. Mr. McClain did not like this, and said while he could not vote for Mr. Beardmore he wanted to vote for someone else. The roll call resulted in the election of Mr. Beardmore by a vote of 5 to 3, Messrs. McGraw, McClain and Murphy voting no.

Mr. Cripps thought the schools should have a musical director, and Mr. Fisher wanted to know if it would require all the time of a man. Mr. Vodrey replied that the teacher would have no time to go fishing, and Mr. McClain wanted to know if provision had not been made for all the funds of the board. After Mr. Vodrey remarked that he liked music, but that money was scarce, the subject was dropped.

Mr. Murphy, as chairman of the committee appointed to place the teachers, reported as follows:

Central building—High school, Miss Updegraff, $80; Miss McVay, $66.66; Miss Nora Madden, $50; Miss Henry, $50. Ninth grade, Miss Roach, $45; Miss Jones, $32.50. Eighth grade, Miss Anna Anstin, $45; Miss Sara McKenty, $32.50. Seventh grade, Miss Smith, $45; Miss McHenry, $37.50. Sixth grade, Miss Buchanan, $37.50; Miss Bowers, $45. Fifth grade, Mrs. Hayes, $42.50. Fourth grade, Miss Isabelle McClain, $30. Third grade, Miss Laura Conkle, $45; Miss Sara Hall, $32.50. Second grade, Miss Clara Williams, $37.50; Miss Beal, $42.50. First grade, Miss Lina Joseph, $32.50; Miss Anna Myers, $45.

Bradshaw Addition—Miss Dawson, principal, $45; Miss Webster, $30.

Sixth street—Miss Gardner, principal, $50; Miss Baum, $32.50; Miss Hall, $45; Miss Kleinogle, $32.50; Miss Houston, $32.00; Miss Knowles, $42.50; Miss Calieba, $37.50; Miss Howard, $30.

Grant Street—Miss Haker, principal, $40; Miss Morgan, $35; Miss Simms, $32.50.

Trentvale—Miss Charlotte Rose, $40.

East End—Miss Gaver, principal, $35; Miss Fowler, $42.50; Miss Esterly, $32.50; Miss Martin, $32.50; Miss Haulley, $30.

Sheridan avenue—Miss Stevenson, principal, $35; Miss Bennett, $30.

Third street—Miss Griggs, principal, $45; Miss Thompson, $37.50; Miss Phillips, $32.50; Miss Gould, $42.50.

West End—Miss Croft, principal, $37.50; Miss Finley, $37.50; Miss Coleman, $30; Miss Faulk, $32.50.

Professor Rayman, $1,800.

The report was received, and the committee recommended that the principals of the schools should be advanced $5 a year, instead of $2.50, as it only meant a matter of $12.50 per month. The recommendation was adopted. The committee reported that all the teachers had certificates except Miss Joseph and Miss McClain. The contract with Miss Madden had never been ratified, and it was decided to engage her if she passes the examination. Miss Andrews will go on the substitute list.

The report of the enumeration was accepted, and after a short talk about the work of painting the buildings Mr. McGraw moved those who had completed their jobs be paid after they had received an order from the committee.

Mr. McClain here stated that he had

watched the work of Mr. Crites very closely, and was confident that he did not use Beamer & Bauman's lead, as stipulated in the specifications. He said he had entered the paint shop one day, and a 100-pound keg of Eclipse lead had just been opened. He tore the paper brand off the top of the keg and put it in his pocket, and put a private mark on the keg. A few days later the same keg was delivered to the West End school house. He said that he had talked with Mr. Crites in the evening, and he said he had used Beamer & Bauman's lead, but the member said he would not endorse the bill until it was further investigated.

"If Mr. Crites said he used Beamer & Bauman's lead, I would believe him as soon as Mr. McClain.

Doctor Norris said several parties had told him it was Eclipse lead, but the bill submitted by Mr. Crites showed he had purchased B. B. lead. Mr. Vodrey wanted to know if there was anything wrong with the makers of the bill, and the motion made by Mr. McGraw passed. The enumerator was given $60 for his work and the board adjourned.

After the meeting the seat committee met and awarded the contract to the Piqua concern for 306 seats at a cost of $741.20.

NO AGREEMENT.

Manufacturers and Operatives Talked Until After Midnight.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 7.—The operative and manufacturing potters held a conference last night which lasted until 12:30 o'clock, but no conclusion was reached, although the 12½ per cent increase was discussed. The manufacturers talk of March 1 as the date when the old rate can be restored. There seems to be nothing in sight yet. They say it is impossible to tell when the selling price of ware can be advanced. The operatives of Trenton and East Liverpool held two conferences this morning, and will meet the manufacturers this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

WATCH YOUR CHANCE.

Get Your Ticket For the Soldiers' Special Car.

Thomas Lloyd is rapidly securing names for the special car which will go from this place to Buffalo, to take in the Grand Army encampment. Those who desire to secure a place in this car will do well to interview Comrade Lloyd at the very earliest opportunity.

ONLY THREE MEMBERS

Appeared Last Night at the Board Meeting.

Only three members appeared at the board of health meeting last night. The report of the health officer shows the birth of 16 males and 15 females, and death of seven males and four females. There were two cases of diphtheria during the month.

Good Fishing.

Parties from the city who have been camping along Little Beaver say that fishing is the best for many years, and a number of good catches have been made. The party at Fernwood have been especially fortunate, and have a large number of fish to their credit.

A New Operator.

Thomas McClure, night operator at the central telephone office, was seized with illness last evening while at work and was conveyed to his home in a carriage. Manager Swaney operated the switch board for the night.

Annoying Neighbors.

George Gaston called at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon and asked that a crowd of campers on Riverside beach be removed. It is claimed the men annoy the neighbors.

Heirs to Vast Mining Lands.

Mrs. Mary Glor of Lagrange county, Ind., and Sarah Myers and John Keefer of Rome City have just been notified that they are heirs to a vast estate situated near Danville, Montour county, Pa.

The estate consists of lands right in the midst of the coal regions and has a valuable mine. There are only five heirs, the other two living near Lawton, Mich.

The estate was left by Keefer's father's grandfather to his father and his heirs. The heirs could give no idea of the amount of the estate further than to say that the Pennsylvania Railway company had offered $500,000 for 500 acres of the land.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Lawyer Reduces His Own Fee.

Judge Hudspeth in the Hudson county (N. J.) orphans' court recently, in announcing his decision in a will case in which only a small estate was involved, said he would allow James Gordon, one of the lawyers in the case, $200 for his services. Counselor Gordon surprised the court by saying the amount was too much.

"I think $100 would be about the correct sum," he added.

"Well," said Judge Hudspeth, "if you demur the court will sustain the demurrer."

The amount was then fixed at $100.

A Farmer's Helper Becomes Suddenly Rich

Walter L. Cochran, who has been doing chores for the farmers near Trenton, has come into a fortune. He had been working for Peter Hughes for several weeks, when he received a letter announcing the death of his father, who had left an estate worth $250,000, of which he was entitled to a part. He received his share in the shape of an annuity and a lump sum of $20,000 to establish some business.

He received his money the other day. He gave to his former employer a gold watch and has now gone to see some of the world.

AFTER A NOTED TALKER

P. J. McGuire May Be Here
Next Labor Day.

NO WORD FROM THE RAILROADS

But the Committee Will Invite Wellsville
and Other Towns to Join With Us in Celebrating the First Monday in September—Committees Successful.

The committee last evening made
further arrangements toward making
the Labor day celebration a grand success.

The sport committee reported as meeting with very flattering success in soliciting prizes, while the program committee have been so successful in securing advertisements that it will probably be made eight pages. The railroad committee had received no answer to their
communication asking for special rates,
and consequently the question of making the celebration more than local was not settled. The secretary, however,
was instructed to invite the unions of Wellsville and other nearby cities to participate in the demonstration. Francis Timmer was appointed chief of police,
and the number of assistants required and their selection was left to his discretion. Jacob J. Weisend was elected
chief marshal of the parade.

It was reported at the meeting that an effort was being made to secure P. J.
McGuire, president of the United Brotherhood of the Carpenters and Joiners of America to make an address.
Mr. McGuire is recognized as one of the best labor orators in the country, and
would undoubtedly prove a drawing
card. The sport committee will meet
the early part of next week, and endeavor to make up a list of events and prizes.

Lawrence Allison, Criss McConnell
and J. J. Weisend were appointed to have charge of the ground privileges.

A BIG CARGO.

An Unusually Heavy Load of Nitro-
Glycerine.

An unusually heavy load of nitro-
glycerine passed the city bound for the oil fields yesterday afternoon. The boatman was flying the red flag, and
seemed to be making good time.

The sight caused a number of parties
who saw the boat to remember that the price for work of that kind had recently
been reduced. Not long ago boatmen
received $60 a trip, but now the companies can have the dangerous stuff
transported for $45.

"I know what my price would be,"
said a prominent official who chanced to
be in the party.

"Well?" they inquired.

"Just $45 a second; and I wouldn't hunt hard for the job."

It was also remarked that of all the
old timers in the business in this section
but few are left. The others have met death by explosions.

ANOTHER CLUE.

Steubenville Men Think They Saw the Man
Who Assaulted Mrs. Warren.

The last information concerning the assailant of Mrs. Warren comes from Steubenville. The Gazette says:

"Two trustworthy young men of this city claim to have seen the assailant of Mrs. Warren last Saturday. While going along the road they walked side by side with the man whose description is
the same as given by Mrs. Warren.
After walking along the road for some distance the man followed by a dog went
over the bank and into a boat house
which was being pulled up the river by
two men. This was the last they saw
of the man, and not being aware of the assault gave the matter little consideration, although the man acted rather chilly and refused to engage in conversation."

GOING TO KLONDYKE.

A Whole Neighborhood Fired by the Return of a Prospector.

James Wilson, a prominent farmer
residing near Gallipolis, was here yesterday, the guest of his relative, N. A.
Frederick. Not long ago one of Mr.
Wilson's neighbors returned from Alaska bringing with him $52,000 in gold. He deposited the money in the bank, and the people at once became
excited, and several prepared to start
for the gold country. Mr. Wilson is seriously considering the matter, and
may go to Klondyke early next spring.

A Handsome Medal.

Mrs. Lourie, who was associate past
state councillor of the Daughters of America, was presented at Columbus
with a handsome solid silver emblem of the office.

MISS LONDON RIVES.

Sister of the Famous Amelie, and Her Pet
Dog Patsey.

Miss London Rives is the favorite chum and sister of the clever Amelie
Rives. Her success in Washington both
as belle and lovable girl has been quite pronounced. She is unlike her sister, quiet and equable in manner, lively of face and figure and with considerable artistic temperament. Patsey is a dog of high degree and some tendency to fight

when away from his doting mistress.
The two are great friends and make an interesting duo in real life. A well known writer, while visiting in the Rives home in Virginia, speaks of the
fondness for horses always exhibited by Miss Rives. She could draw in an exceedingly clever way this animal, but
was entirely unable to sketch any other,
and most of her friends own a design or

A Blue and White Kitchen.

The woman who wishes her summer
cottage to be absolutely ideal has a blue and white kitchen. No color scheme is so cool and nowhere does it seem so
suitable and so pretty as in the domain
of the "cordon bleu." Thus the floor is laid with blue and white oilcloth and
the dresser has a covering of the same colored oilcloth scalloped. Above the marble top pastry table is a small cup-
board filled with blue and white ware
cooking utensils, even to the rolling pin,
which may be found to harmonize with
this new fancy. The frying pan clock,
from being an extreme novelty, has become quite common. Plants in blue and white jars on the window shelf add to the general effect. The metal bread
board is one of the new scientific devices which should be found in every model kitchen. It is light, does not absorb grease, and dough does not stick to
it. It is less expensive than the marble
bread board and, on the whole, answers
all the requirements of sanitary bread-
making. The newest cooking utensils are made of aluminium. They are not yet common, owing to cost, but they are delightfully light to handle, neither scorch nor burn, need less fuel than is consumed by other utensils and can be kept shining brightly with only soap and water.—Exchange.

Yachting Costumes.

Smart looking yachting costumes, says
a fashion writer, are made of gray holland with short open jacket bodices and
pink, blue or red linen shirt waists beneath, with three studs down the plaited
front, a stylish leather belt, a turn
down collar of the linen and a flowing sailor tie. On the beach and in the mountains are worn very fine cream colored light wool costumes, with a tiny
satin stripe in marine blue, rose color, cerise, green or black in the fabric. The gored skirt and open jacket are of the stripe, with shirt waist and large marine collar of plain cream wool thorn
stitched in silk the color of the satin
stripe. Pale russet shades are still liked
for boating and outing suits. They are more serviceable than lighter colors, and they are made dainty in appearance by
white braid trimmings and a blouse vest
of white china silk. Russet shoes, hose
and gloves accompany these dresses.

The Safest Ice Water.

An old physician considers this the
only safe ice water to be used during
the summer months:
"Procure some nice looking bottles
which will hold about a quart and fill
them with water which has been running for some time. Water which has
run through a filter attached to a faucet
is preferable. Then cork them tightly
and place them directly on the ice for
some hours before you need to use
them, turn them two or three times, so
that they will become uniformly cold,
and you will find that you can drink
more of this water with less after discomfort than you can the water which has been cooled by being directly iced."
—New York Herald.

Serving Food In Ice.

Hostesses who wish to use ice blocks
and trays to serve various things on,
sorbets, clams, frozen fruits, or what
may be, will appreciate a suggestion to prevent the too rapid melting of the ice.
If the block or plate is placed on a mat
of fine white wadding, the furry side
folded uppermost, it will be found that
the ice will not only not melt so fast, but
as it melts the moisture is absorbed by the mat. The mat should extend a little
beyond the ice all around and be fluffed

out to give a pretty effect of snow.
The wadding, being a nonconductor of
heat as well as an absorber of moisture,
is able to perform these useful offices.—
Exchange.

Summer Dishes With Little Fire.

"Much summer cooking may be done
on the installment plan," writes Mrs.
S. T. Rorer on "Summer Dishes With Little Fire" in The Ladies' Home Journal. "If asparagus is ordered for today's dinner, cook double quantity and serve
that remaining for tomorrow's salad.
From a fricassee of chicken for dinner
the giblets may be saved for giblet stew
for the next day's luncheon. You will thereby gain a dish without extra cost.
Potted fish, with cucumber sauce, may
be served as a first course in place of
soup, but if the latter is preferred a
quick soup may be made by stirring beef
extract into boiling water and seasoning
it with celery seed and a bay leaf.
Where light meats are to be served some
of the cream soups are not out of place,
as they contain nourishment easily digested. Cream of potato, cream of pea,
tomato, celery, asparagus, rice, squash,
cucumber and lima bean soups are all
very acceptable in hot weather.

"During the heated term the roast
joint might be served cold, nicely garnished with edible greens. With it hot vegetables might be served. The hot meat dishes should be light and quickly cooked. Do away with the large joints, the pot roasts and the heavy
boils and substitute chops, smothered
beef, rolled steak, broiled steak, Hamburg steak or Turkish meat balls.
Stuffed vegetables may be served occasionally in the place of meat—eggplant
stuffed with meat and bread crumbs,
and tomatoes and squash prepared in the same way. Slow cooking makes these vegetables palatable and wholesome."

The New Shape Corset.

The fashionable modistes and women's tailors have announced to their clients that they will fit gowns for next season only over the new shape corsets,
while the cloak and mantle makers say
that all garments for the fall and winter trade will also be modeled for figures wearing the same style. There is a most pronounced change from the old
corset, whose chief end seemed to be to accentuate the length of the waist and
to raise the bust.

The new corset has what the shop
girls call "the low bust" and "sudden
hip." The back is noticeably narrow,
the hips very full, and the bust entirely without formation. Except at the waist line the garment scarcely touches
the figure at all. When worn, the upper edge just reaches to the lower line of
the bust, thereby leaving it fully exposed, but firmly held in place by the line of the corset and the upper clasp,
which fastens immediately in the center and a little high up, it being the highest part of the corset.

The hips and underarm pieces, being remarkably full, have a tendency to increase the width of the body, giving
the wearer the fullness of figure so noticeable in French fashion plates. Of course this increase of size just above
and below the waist has a tendency to make it appear smaller than it really
is. The change will not be objected to
by slender women, while, on the other
hand, to women with a superabundance
of flesh the new corset will be nothing
short of an abomination which they will be slow to adopt.—New York Sun.

Pillow Coverings.

Yachting, hammock and divan pillows are used in such profusion that one
can never possess too many of these comfortable belongings. No material which cannot be laundered is suitable for this purpose, as in a country house the pillows are carried on the piazza, thrown
down on the grass or put anywhere
which suits the convenience of the careless sojourner. Elaborate embroidery is not suitable for such things, stitches
that are easily executed being preferable. This summer the crossbar red cotton twills in navy and light blue, yellow,
heliotrope, pink, red and green are the
most desirable material for the purpose.
The gay plaids lend a note of originality to the work, which is as simple as possible. The embroidery is executed on the white squares in geometrical and other designs. Linen floss of the color of the plaid is used. The stitches are so simple that a child could easily learn
them. For pillows the edge is finished with a ruffle or a heavy rope with knotted corners. The table covers to match
are prettily trimmed with lace. Torchon
looks well.

Yacht pillows in blue, with the traditional anchor in white applique, are still correct. Hammock pillows are rather smaller than those used for divans
and are of cotton or linen goods.—
Godey's Magazine.

Two Women Speakers.

Mrs. W. B. Lowe, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs,
has been invited to make an address in Nashville at the convocation of the National federation at the Tennessee exposition in the early fall. Mrs. James
King Ottley, president of the Atlanta
Woman's club, will make an address in Nashville during August.

Philadelphia has just organized a
Rainy Day club, with Mrs. Helen M.
James as president. A skirt reaching to
the boot tops has been adopted.

The distance between Washington
and Liverpool is 3,228 miles.

AFTER A NOTED TALKER

P. J. McGuire May Be Here
Next Labor Day.

NO WORD FROM THE RAILROADS

But the Committee Will Invite Wellsville
and Other Towns to Join With Us in Celebrating the First Monday in September—Committees Successful.

The committee last evening made
further arrangements toward making
the Labor day celebration a grand success.

The sport committee reported as meeting with very flattering success in soliciting prizes, while the program committee have been so successful in securing advertisements that it will probably be
made eight pages. The railroad committee had received no answer to their
communication asking for special rates,
and consequently the question of making the celebration more than local was
not settled. The secretary, however,
was instructed to invite the unions of Wellsville and other nearby cities to participate in the demonstration. Francis Timmer was appointed chief of police,
quired and their selection was left to his discretion. Jacob J. Weisend was elected
chief marshal of the parade.

It was reported at the meeting that an effort was being made to secure P. J.
McGuire, president of the United Brotherhood of the Carpenters and
Joiners of America to make an address.
Mr. McGuire is recognized as one of the
best labor orators in the country, and
would undoubtedly prove a drawing
card. The sport committee will meet
the early part of next week, and endeavor to make up a list of events and
prizes.

Lawrence Allison, Criss McConnell
and J. J. Weisend were appointed to
have charge of the ground privileges.

A BIG CARGO.

An Unusually Heavy Load of Nitro-
Glycerine.

An unusually heavy load of nitro-
glycerine passed the city bound for the
oil fields yesterday afternoon. The boatman was flying the red flag, and
seemed to be making good time.

The sight caused a number of parties
who saw the boat to remember that the
price for work of that kind had recently
been reduced. Not long ago boatmen
received $60 a trip, but now the companies can have the dangerous stuff
transported for $45.

"I know what my price would be,"
said a prominent official who chanced to
be in the party.

"Well?" they inquired.

"Just $45 a second; and I wouldn't
hunt hard for the job."

It was also remarked that of all the
old timers in the business in this section
but few are left. The others have met
death by explosions.

ANOTHER CLUE.

Steubenville Men Think They Saw the Man
Who Assaulted Mrs. Warren.

The last information concerning the assault of Mrs. Warren comes from Steubenville. The Gazette says:

"Two trustworthy young men of this
city claim to have seen the assailant of Mrs. Warren last Saturday. While going along the road they walked side by side with the man whose description is
the same as given by Mrs. Warren.
After walking along the road for some
distance the man followed by a dog went
over the bank and into a boat house
which was being pulled up the river by
two men. This was the last they saw
of the man, and not being aware of the
assault gave the matter little consideration, although the man acted rather
chilly and refused to engage in conversation."

GOING TO KLONDYKE.

A Whole Neighborhood Fired by the Re-
turn of a Prospector.

James Wilson, a prominent farmer
residing near Gallipolis, was here yesterday, the guest of his relative, N. A.
Frederick. Not long ago one of Mr.
Wilson's neighbors returned from Alaska bringing with him $52,000 in gold. He deposited the money in the bank, and the people at once became
excited, and several prepared to start
for the gold country. Mr. Wilson is seriously considering the matter, and

A Handsome Medal.

Mrs. Lourie, who was associate past
state councillor of the Daughters of America, was presented at Columbus
with a handsome solid silver emblem of
the office.

MISS LANDON RIVES.

Sister of the Famous Amelie, and Her Pet
Dog Patsey.

Miss Landon Rives is the favorite
chum and sister of the clever Amelie
Rives. Her success in Washington both
as belle and lovable girl has been quite
pronounced. She is unlike her sister, quiet and equable in manner, level of
face and figure and with considerable
artistic temperament. Patsey is a dog of

high degree and some tendency to fight
when away from his doting mistress.
The two are great friends and make an interesting duo in real life. A well known writer, while visiting in the Rives home in Virginia, speaks of the
fondness for horses always exhibited by Miss Rives. She could draw in an exceedingly clever way this animal, but
was entirely unable to sketch any other,
and most of her friends own a design or

A Blue and White Kitchen.

The woman who wishes her summer
cottage to be absolutely ideal has a blue
and white kitchen. No color scheme is
so cool and nowhere does it seem so
suitable and so pretty as in the domain
of the "cordon bleu." Thus the floor is laid with blue and white oilcloth and
the dresser has a covering of the same
colored oilcloth scalloped. Above the marble top pastry table is a small cup-
board filled with blue and white ware
cooking utensils, even to the rolling pin,
which may be found to harmonize with
this new fancy. The frying pan clock,
from being an extreme novelty, has become quite common. Plants in blue and white jars on the window shelf add to
the general effect. The metal bread
board is one of the new scientific devices which should be found in every
model kitchen. It is light, does not absorb grease, and dough does not stick to
it. It is less expensive than the marble
bread board and, on the whole, answers
all the requirements of sanitary bread-
making. The newest cooking utensils are made of aluminum. They are not yet common, owing to cost, but they are
delightfully light to handle, neither
scorch nor burn, need less fuel than is
consumed by other utensils and can be kept shining brightly with only soap and
water.—Exchange.

Yachting Costumes.

Smart looking yachting costumes, says
a fashion writer, are made of gray hol-
land with short open jacket bodices and
pink, blue or red linen shirt waists be-
neath, with three studs down the plaited
front, a stylish leather belt, a turn
down collar of the linen and a flowing
sailor tie. On the beach and in the mountains are worn very fine cream colored light wool costumes, with a tiny
satin stripe in marine blue, rose color,
cerise, green or black in the fabric.
The gored skirt and open jacket are of the stripe, with shirt waist and large
marine collar of plain cream wool thorn
stitched in silk the color of the satin
stripe. Pale russet shades are still liked
for boating and outing suits. They are more serviceable than lighter colors, and
they are made dainty in appearance by
white braid trimmings and a blouse vest
of white china silk. Russet shoes, hose
and gloves accompany these dresses.

The Safest Ice Water.

An old physician considers this the
only safe ice water to be used during
the summer months:

"Procure some nice looking bottles
which will hold about a quart and fill
them with water which has been running for some time. Water which has
run through a filter attached to a faucet
is preferable. Then cork them tightly
and place them directly on the ice for
some hours before you need to use
them, turn them two or three times, so
that they will become uniformly cold,
and you will find that you can drink
more of this water with less after discomfort than you can the water which
—New York Herald.

Serving Food In Ice.

Hostesses who wish to use ice blocks
and trays to serve various things on,
sorbets, clams, frozen fruits, or what
may be, will appreciate a suggestion to prevent the too rapid melting of the ice.
If the block or plate is placed on a mat
of fine white wadding, the furry side
folded uppermost, it will be found that
the ice will not only not melt so fast, but
as it melts the moisture is absorbed by
the mat. The mat should extend a little
beyond the ice all around and be fluffed

out to give a pretty effect of snow.
The wadding, being a nonconductor of
heat as well as an absorber of moisture,
Exchange.

Summer Dishes With Little Fire.

"Much summer cooking may be done
on the installment plan," writes Mrs.
S. T. Rorer in "Summer Dishes With Little Fire" in The Ladies' Home Journal. "If asparagus is ordered for today's
dinner, cook double quantity and serve
that remaining for tomorrow's salad.
From a fricassee of chicken for dinner
the giblets may be saved for giblet stew
for the next day's luncheon. You will
thereby gain a dish without extra cost.
Potted fish, with cucumber sauce, may
be served as a first course in place of
soup, but if the latter is preferred a
quick soup may be made by stirring beef
extract into boiling water and seasoning
it with celery seed and a bay leaf.
Where light meats are to be served some
of the cream soups are not out of place,
as they contain nourishment easily digested. Cream of potato, cream of pea,
tomato, celery, asparagus, rice, squash,
cucumber and lima bean soups are all
very acceptable in hot weather.

"During the heated term the roast
joint might be served cold, nicely garnished with edible greens. With it hot vegetables might be served. The hot
meat dishes should be light and quickly cooked. Do away with the large
joints, the pot roasts and the heavy
boils and substitute chops, smothered
beef, rolled steak, broiled steak, Hamburg steak or Turkish meat balls.
Stuffed vegetables may be served occasionally in the place of meat—eggplant
stuffed with meat and bread crumbs,
and tomatoes and squash prepared in
the same way. Slow cooking makes
these vegetables palatable and whole-
some."

The New Shape Corset.

The fashionable modistes and women's tailors have announced to their
clients that they will fit gowns for next
season only over the new shape corsets,
while the cloak and mantle makers say
that all garments for the fall and winter trade will also be modeled for figures wearing the same style. There is a most pronounced change from the old
corset, whose chief end seemed to be to accentuate the length of the waist and
to raise the bust.

The new corset has what the shop
girls call "the low bust" and "sudden
hip." The back is noticeably narrow,
the hips very full, and the bust entirely without formation. Except at the waist line the garment scarcely touches
the figure at all. When worn, the upper edge just reaches to the lower line of
the bust, thereby leaving it fully exposed, but firmly held in place by the
line of the corset and the upper clasp,
which fastens immediately in the center and a little high up, it being the highest part of the corset.

The hips and underarm pieces, being remarkably full, have a tendency to
increase the width of the body, giving
the wearer the fullness of figure so noticeable in French fashion plates. Of course this increase of size just above
and below the waist has a tendency to
make it appear smaller than it really
is. The change will not be objected to
by slender women, while, on the other
hand, to women with a superabundance
of flesh the new corset will be nothing
short of an abomination which they

Pillow Coverings.

Yachting, hammock and divan pil-
lows are used in such profusion that one
can never possess too many of these comfortable belongings. No material which cannot be laundered is suitable for this
purpose, as in a country house the pillows are carried on the piazza, thrown
down on the grass or put anywhere
which suits the convenience of the careless sojourner. Elaborate embroidery is
not suitable for such things, stitches
that are easily executed being prefer-
able. This summer the crossbar red cotton twills in navy and light blue, yellow,
heliotrope, pink, red and green are the
most desirable material for the purpose.
The gay plaids lend a note of original-
ity to the work, which is as simple as possible. The embroidery is executed on
the white squares in geometrical and
other designs. Linen floss of the color
of the plaid is used. The stitches are so simple that a child could easily learn
them. For pillows the edge is finished
with a ruffle or a heavy rope with knot-
ted corners. The table covers to match
are prettily trimmed with lace. Torchon
looks well.

Yacht pillows in blue, with the traditional anchor in white applique, are still correct. Hammock pillows are
rather smaller than those used for divans
and are of cotton or linen goods.—
Godey's Magazine.

Two Women Speakers.

Mrs. W. B. Lowe, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs,
has been invited to make an address in Nashville at the convocation of the National federation at the Tennessee exposition in the early fall. Mrs. James
King Ottley, president of the Atlanta
Woman's club, will make an address in Nashville during August.

Philadelphia has just organized a
Rainy Day club, with Mrs. Helen M.
James as president. A skirt reaching to
the boot tops has been adopted.

and Liverpool is 3,228 miles.

SELEE WANTS MERCER

He Will Pay $7,000 For Our Pretty Pitcher.

WINNIE HAS WON TEN GAMES

Carey, Shaw and Godwin Did Well Last Week—Sebrings Won a Game From the Dresden Team—A Contest Is on Over the River This Afternoon.

"Will Mercer ever win a game from Baltimore?" is the way Sporting Life puts it. In another place it says: "Manager Selee says that he made no offer for Cy Young. He has informed the members of his team that he stands willing to pay $7,000 for either Mercer or McJames."

Winnie has thus far won 10 games and lost 16, and has been 80 times at bat, made 11 runs, 26 singles, two two-base hits and two three-base hits, with an average of .325, which places him thirty-third among the league batsmen.

George Carey, in the last seven games played by the Athletics, was at bat 33 times, made 13 hits, had 102 putouts, three assists and two errors. Not a bad record for a week.

Alf Shaw participated in but two games last week and was seven times at bat, made two hits, had eight putouts, one assist and no errors.

John Godwin played six games with the Athletics this week, and was 25 times at bat, made four hits, had five putouts, four assists and two errors.

The Sebring and Dresden teams played an interesting game at West End park yesterday afternoon, the score resulting 15 to 8 in favor of Sebring. The batteries were Kenney and Reed, and Barker and Woods.

The G. T. Hollidays, of Pittsburg, and Liverpool are playing ball this afternoon at Rock Spring.

The Holliday base ball club, of Pittsburg, arrived in the city this morning on the first train from Pittsburg. They crossed bats with the East Liverpool club at Rock Spring this afternoon.

Micky Lynch left this morning for Salineville where he is playing ball this afternoon.

HURT HIS LEG.

Thomas Marran Was Injured at Yellow Creek.

Yesterday afternoon, while Thomas Marran was driving to this city from Irondale, he had occasion to get out of his wagon while crossing Yellow Creek. In jumping back in the wagon a board in the bed broke and allowed his foot to go through. The horse started, and for a short time it looked as though a serious accident would occur, but the animal was stopped before Mr. Marran had sustained serious injury.

Sent to the Infirmary.

John Budd, an aged umbrella mender who has been in this vicinity for six years, was sent to the infirmary yesterday afternoon. A year ago he lost his leg in the Conway yards and has never fully recovered. He has since been wandering about the country following his trade, and becoming ill asked the trustees to care for him.

Her Son Lives Here.

Mrs. Rebecca Stuckrath, widow of John Jacob Stuckrath, second mayor of Allegheny, died Thursday evening at the residence of her son, Louis, in Allegheny, from dropsy and heart trouble, aged 86 years. Deceased was the mother of Jacob Stuckrath, of this city. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon.

Low Rates For Vacation Trips and Outings Along the Ocean.

Round Trip From Steubenville Only $10.

General excursions to the seashore at exceptionally low rates will be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania lines this summer, offering a grand opportunity for delightful outings at the most popular ocean resorts on the continent. This announcement will be good news to persons who may desire to enjoy their vacations at the seaside. They may visit Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Isle City, Angelsea, Ocean City, Holly Beach or wildwood, at very low fare, round trip tickets to either resort being obtainable at the same rate.

The first excursion will be run Thursday, July 15, followed by others on July 59th, August 12 and 21. Round trip rates to either Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Sea Island City, Anglesia, Ocean City, Wildwood or Holly Beach, New Jersey, will be $10 from Steubenville.

Excursion tickets will be good going on trains leaving Steubenville 4:24 a. m., 1:09 p. m., 2:15 p. m., and 4:08 p. m. The 4:45 a. m. train connects in Pittsburgh Union Station with a special train of parlor cars and coaches running through to Atlantic City via Delaware bridge route, arriving at Philadelphia at 6:25 p. m., Atlantic City, 8:55 p. m., making the run from Pittsburg to the seashore in 12 hours. Excursionists may spend the night in Philadelphia and proceed to the shore by any regular train the following day. The 4:08 p. m. train has sleeping cars from Steubenville to Philadelphia without change, and will connect in Pittsburg union station with Sleeping cars running through to Atlantic city.

The return limit will cover 12 days including date of sale, which will be ample for customary 10 days' vacation. For further desired information, apply to J. K. Dillon, D. P. A., Pittsburg, Pa., for particulars. Illustrated description of resorts to which excursion tickets will be sold, with list of hotels, and boarding houses at each, will be furnished upon application.

Low Rates.

Special reductions in fare over the Pennsylvania lines will be granted for numerous events to take place this summer in various parts of the United States, in addition to local excursions. Some of the points to which tickets will be sold and dates of sale are as follows: To Nashville, Tenn., daily to October 15, for Tennessee Centennial and International exposition.

To Winona assembly grounds, Eagle Lake, (near Warsaw, Ind.,) May 15 to August 31, for annual assembly and summer school.

To Indianapolis, September 8 and 9, for National Encampment Sons of Veterans.

The reduced rates over the Pennsylvania lines will not be restricted to members of the organizations mentioned, but may be taken advantage of by the public generally. Excursion tickets may be obtained at ticket offices on the Pennsylvania system and will also be sold over this route by connecting railways. Any Pennsylvania line ticket or passenger agent will furnish desired information concerning rates, time of trains, return limit, and other details, to all applicants, or the same may be obtained by addressing Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

Excursions to Nashville.

The Tennessee Centennial and International exposition will be in progress at Nashville, Tenn., from May until October inclusive. Special low rate round trip ticket will be sold via Pennsylvania lines for this event. Full particulars concerning fare, dates of sales, time of train, etc., may be obtained upon application to the nearest Pennsylvania line ticket agent, or by addressing D. C. MacWatters, district passenger agent, Pittsburg, Pa.

Pleasant Exercise.

Stern Father—What were those peculiar noises I heard down here last night? Did you and young Comeback uncork any of my beer bottles?

Pretty printing.

OUR work is not always perfect; but nine times out of ten, and six days in the week, we are doing the best work in eastern Ohio. We're equipped for it. AN ARGUMENT:—There are eggs and eggs; the egg of yesterday looks, feels, measures and weighs like the egg of last month, but there's a slight difference in another respect, and that difference is worth money. It's just so with printing; the difference between the good work and poor is slight to the unpracticed discernment, but it's a difference that counts every time. It costs money, but it makes more—it changes the printing bills from an expense to an investment.

Klondike.

Over the mountains and far away,
In the regions of ice and snow,
Many a pilgrim is trudging today
With a heart full of hope and shouting,
"Yo-ho for Klondike!"

Over the mountains, beyond the plains,
Where the great river winds to the sea,
Many a pioneer jingles his gains
And sings in a frenzied ecstasy
In Klondike!

Thousands and thousands of miles away,
In the land of the polar bear,
Many a man is digging today,
Only to find that there's nothing there
In Klondike!

Many a husband, many a son,
And many a father, too,
Many a man who is dear to some one
Is climbing the glaciers leading through To Klondike!

Many a mother and many a wife
And many a one that is dear
Is dreaming today of a happier life
And hopefully waiting to hear

Berries and Appendicitis.

The appendicitis scare has struck Wayne county, N. Y., and berries are a drug on the market. Merchants cannot dispose of berries, and farmers, being forced to hawk their products from house to house, experience great difficulty in selling them. Everything in the line of sickness above toothache is called appendicitis, and all deaths are credited to the berry seeds. Farmers are forced either to evaporate their berries or convert them into wine, thus depriving them of ready cash, which berries usually are depended upon to bring at this time of the year. Housewives are refraining from canning raspberries and blackberries.—New York Sun.

Beauty Was Fatal to Her.

Because a drop of carbolic acid made a black spot on the face of pretty Laura Merkins of Stratford, Ont., and marred the beauty of which she was so proud, she recently committed suicide by taking a dose of paris green. Laura was 22 years of age and worked at the Cardigan overshoe factory, but on account of sickness at home had been unable to attend to her work. Worry and bad health are supposed to have unhinged her mind.—New York Telegram.

Houses arrayed in their summer coverings need not look nowadays as if, as some one has said, they had their night-caps on. Materials now used for covers are of attractive design and are restful and ornamental and an agreeable substitute for upholstery covering that has become a little worn.

Berries and Appendicitis.

The appendicitis scare has struck Wayne county, N. Y., and berries are a drug on the market. Merchants cannot dispose of berries, and farmers, being forced to hawk their products from house to house, experience great difficulty in selling them. Everything in the line of sickness above toothache is called appendicitis, and all deaths are credited to the berry seeds. Farmers are forced either to evaporate their berries or convert them into wine, thus depriving them of ready cash, which berries usually are depended upon to bring at this time of the year. Housewives are refraining from canning raspberries and blackberries.—New York Sun.

Beauty Was Fatal to Her.

Because a drop of carbohc acid made a black spot on the face of pretty Laura Merkins of Stratford, Ont., and marred the beauty of which she was so proud, she recently committed suicide by taking a dose of paris green. Laura was 22 years of age and worked at the Cardigan overshoe factory, but on account of sickness at home had been unable to attend to her work. Worry and bad health are supposed to have unhinged her mind.—New York Telegram.

Houses arrayed in their summer coverings need not look nowadays as if, as some one has said, they had their night-caps on. Materials now used for covers are of attractive design and are restful and ornamental and an agreeable substitute for upholstery covering that has become a little worn.

Pretty Printing.

OUR work is not always perfect; but nine times out of ten, and six days in the week, we are doing the best work in eastern Ohio. We're equipped for it.

AN ARGUMENT:—There are eggs and eggs; the egg of yesterday looks, feels, measures and weighs like the egg of last month, but there's a slight difference in another respect, and that difference is worth money. It's just so with printing; the difference between the good work and poor is slight to the unpracticed discernment, but it's a difference that counts every time. It costs money, but it makes more—it changes the printing bills from an expense to an investment.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Irondale tin mill is working full time.

J. E. Brookes and family today moved to Spring Grove.

John Rinehart purchased a new horse in Lisbon yesterday.

Rev. J. C. Taggart will preach in Chester tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Croxall pottery will resume operations next week. It has been idle for a number of time.

A number of the through trainmen on the Cleveland and Pittsburg are off on their vacation.

The amount of mail matter reaching and leaving the city for several days has been unusually heavy.

Edward Allen has returned from Washingtonville where he attended the funeral of his brother.

Miss Hazel Reed, who has been visiting friends in the west for several months, will return home next week.

The St. Aloysius church Aid society last evening held their regular monthly meeting. An enjoyable time was had.

There was a heavy fog on the river this morning, and the ferry boat Dispatch could not be started until about 8 o'clock.

The arrangements for the meeting Monday night are almost completed. The lumber with which to seat the rink has been donated.

Sanitary Officer Burgess was today asked to bury a dead horse that has been laying on the river bank near the glass-house for some time.

The second hay ride of the Astor club will be given next Tuesday if the weather permits. If not then it will take place Thursday night.

Miss Byers and Miss Maggie Williams will leave this evening for a bicycle trip to Empire. They will ride to Steubenville and return tomorrow.

The first west bound freight to pass through the city this morning dropped seven cars in the local yards. Four were loaded with merchandise.

The Epworth league of the First M. E. Church held a cottage prayer meeting at the residence of Wallace Homestead in West End last evening. It was well attended.

The hearing of William Tyndall, which should have taken place this evening at 6 o'clock, has been postponed until Monday. The bond was re-signed by the original bondsmen.

The water works trustees met last evening with all members present. The session was one of the shortest in the history of the board, and nothing was done beyond paying a few bills.

Rev. D. F. Davies, who will occupy the pulpit at St. Stephen's church tomorrow, will be here for three weeks. He is a professor at Kenyon college, and one of the best ministers of the diocese.

Prof. R. E. Hudson, of Alliance, is visiting friends in the city. He will have charge of the services at the Mineral Springs campmeeting at Fairview. The meeting will extend from the second to the twelfth of September.

Miss Cassidy, a graduate from the kindergarten normal of Pittsburg, has secured a room from the ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance union in the old Bradshaw homestead, and expects to open a private kindergarten the first Monday in September.

The football team met last evening at the city hall with a good attendance. Wagner and Wheatley were appointed to secure a manager while McLane, Grafton and Woods will frame rules. A meeting will be held Wednesday evening to complete the organization, and practice will commence next week.

The river at this point shows the 55 foot mark at noon today and falling slowly. No interference with lower packet trade is likely to occur for a week or 10 days. The Virginia and Lorena will go down this evening on time and the Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur will be up tomorrow.

It now develops that S. J. Martin will probably lose the $392 which he invested in the mortgage sold him by A. W. Stevenson. He has never been given a deed of trust, but says it would avail him nothing, as the property of Thomas Stevenson is now mortgaged for more than it is worth. When asked if he would prosecute Stevenson if he was found, he refused to talk.

TO OUR BUSINESS MEN

When You Want Job Work, Come and See Us.

With thousands of dollars invested in our job department, we have the most complete job office in all this section of Ohio, and we simply defy competition. The News Review has honestly won the verdict, from our business men, of turning out the finest job work in the city. We buy material in large lots, and pay spot cash for the same, and, for the same material, we defy competition in prices. If you want cheap material, we will furnish it to you. If you want fine material, we have it always on hand. We pay our skilled workmen the highest prices paid the craft in East Liverpool, HIGHER THAN THE UNION DEMANDS and no union office can underbid us. The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. Let us give you an estimate.

Two Men Have One Job.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A peculiar complication has grown out of the filing of the posts of United States commissioners for the District of Alaska and two men hold commissions for the same office at St. Michaels, at the mouth of the Yukon. William J. Jones, a lawyer of Port Townsend, Wash., and L. B. Shepherd of Nebraska. The former was supposed to have withdrawn.

May Stop Sunday Baseball.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 7.—Judge Disette has decided the demurrer in the baseball case against the club. This is the first time that a decision of any kind by the common pleas court has been squarely against the clubs. Judge Disette holds that if the facts claimed by the plaintiff are true then baseball on Sunday is a nuisance. The case to stop baseball will now be heard on its merits.

Lynched One of the Brutes.

BARBOURSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7.—Jack Williams has been caught in the mountains near Brush creek and lynched by a mob of enraged men. He and his brother Tom were accused of raping a deaf mute girl named Viney Bays. Tom Williams was forced to marry his victim. He is now in jail here and there are threats of lynching him.

Hurst Out on Habeas Corpus.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—Tim Hurst, the league umpire who was arrested for assaulting a Cincinnati with a beer glass, was released in bonds of $500, a writ of habeas corpus being issued by Judge Murphy. The bond was signed by ex-Alderman Cronin and Nicholas Griffin. Hurst umpired the Pittsburg-St. Louis game.

The President Accepted.

BUFFALO, Aug. 7.—Commander McConnell of Columbia post, G. A. R., of Chicago, who is in this city, has received a letter from Private Secretary Foster announcing the acceptance by President McKinley of an invitation to a banquet to be tendered him by the post in this city on Aug. 24.

Great Mile by Joe Patchen.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 7.—At the Grand Circuit races Star Pointer was vanquished in the free-for-all race by Joe Patchen, who not only won the race on its merits, but paced the fastest mile ever made in the Grand Circuit, equaling the world's record of 2:01 1/2, made by John R. Gentry at Glenns Falls.

Prominent Man Suicides.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Perry Mainland, one of the best known and most highly respected business men of this city, has committed suicide by cutting his throat from ear to ear with his penknife, severing the jugular vein. He was evidently insane.

Welcoming the Kaiser.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—The Russian newspapers are full of eulogistic articles extending a welcome to the emperor and empress of Germany, whose approaching visit to this city will be the occasion for a round of festivities. They are expected today.

A Fifth Victim Dead.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Charles M. Conway has died from injuries received while at work at the Northwestern elevator fire, making the number of dead five.

Preacher Wounded a Child.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Aug. 7.—Rev. John Walstein, an evangelist, fired a revolver from the pulpit at a crowd of toughs and fatally wounded a little girl.

The President Entertained.

HOTEL CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., Aug. 7.—President McKinley was entertained yesterday by the Vermont Fish and Game league.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

Good rains in Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois and Missouri have saved the crops in those states from destruction.

Two wives, known as Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Gates, in Chicago, found they were married to the same man.

Cotton is said to be cornered in St. Louis and may remain so until September.

Distillers and distributors are believed to have formed a combination to control the price of spirits.

Women voters defeated a candidate at Long Island elections and elected a woman trustee of the schools.

Captain General Weyer has started out again to "pacify" the provinces of Havana and Matanzas, from orders received, it is rumored, direct from Madrid.

DEMANDS BY MINERS.

Delegates From West Virginia Mines Hold a Meeting.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 7.—A joint meeting of miners has been held at Handley, composed of delegates representing both Kanawha and New river mines. The mines were not all represented, there being only 18 men present at the meeting. They passed resolutions demanding the short weight and 50 cents for digging. They decided to quit work at once and remain idle until their demands were met.

There is not much importance attached to the action of this meeting, as several meetings of this kind have recently been held in both the Kanawha and New river regions and similar resolutions passed, but the men in the mines have persistently disregarded the resolutions passed in these meetings and kept on at work. By Monday it will be known how far the miners will respond to the call to quit work.

SHOT HIS NEW WIFE.

A Michigan Man Secured Her by Advertising—Killed Himself.

GRAND RAPIDS, Aug. 7.—H. A. Dailey, a well-to-do Jenison man, has shot his wife and took poison and died. The woman may recover.

Last April Dailey sent a letter to Mayor Swift of Chicago, saying he wanted a woman of mature years as a wife. The mayor gave the missive to the newspapers as a literary curiosity. The result was Dailey received nearly 500 answers from women who wanted a home. Out of the lot Dailey selected Mrs. Hattie Newman, a Chicago widow. Three months ago they were married. Dailey was 70 years old, his bride was 45. Their life was unhappy.

A Toad as a Talisman.

The Western Morning News reports a remarkable case of superstition. A young woman in Penzance had suffered from fits, and she adopted a remedy which would be to most people almost as repulsive as the disease itself. She procured a live toad, placed it in a bag, hung it around her neck and carried it next her body. The woman was cured of her fits, but she was being medically attended at the Pensance infirmary at the same time. The woman believes, however, that this was a coincidence and that her strange talisman was the instrument of her cure.—South Wales News.

Asks For a Divorce.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 7.—Ed T. Welch, formerly a well-known wholesale grocer here, has filed suit for divorce from his wife Mary E. Welch. The petition alleges that she has been intoxicated on various occasions, has associated with immoral characters and is now an inmate of a house of ill-repute.

Urbana Campmeeting.

URBANA, O., Aug. 7.—The Urbana campmeeting will continue until the 23d inst. Rev. D. H. Moore, D. D., of Cincinnati, preached the opening sermon to a very large congregation in the tabernacle. The matly effort and fully sustained the reputation of the doctor as a pulpit orator.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN NEEDED.

Strikers Seem to Be Lying Ground In West Virginia.

WHEELING, Aug. 7.—Ratchford's statement that a more vigorous campaign was to be made in West Virginia is timely, if the United Mine Workers ever expect to shut off the supply of coal from this state. From day to day the men on strike have been going back until, aside from Clarksburg, there is no field in the state that shows any diminution in output.

Miners' day was a failure from every point of view. The injunctions granted by the Marion county court and by the United States court prevent any sort of activity in the Fairmont field, and the announcement is made that these injunctions will be spread as the strike agitators spread their field of operations.

SALE OF BONDS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION,
EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, July 23, 1897.

SEALED PROPOSALS, addressed to the undersigned and marked on the outside, "Proposals for Bonds," will be received at this office until 6 o'clock p. m., Standard Time, of Friday, September 3, 1897, for the purchase on September 17, 1897, of six thousand ($6,000) dollars of bonds to be issued by the Board of Education of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, for the purpose of providing for the necessary expenses connected with the erection, furnishing and improving of school buildings in said city.

The bonds will be issued under the authority conferred by section 3934 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio, and by a general election held November 3, 1896. The bonds will be issued in sums of $500 each; will be dated September 17, 1897, and will be payable at the rate of $2,000 each year after six years from the date thereof. The bonds will bear interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually by coupons attached thereto, both principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Treasurer of said city.

The bonds will be ready for delivery on September 17, 1897, and may be paid for on that day in cash or certified check. Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check on some National bank in the sum of $500, payable to the Clerk of the Board of Education as a guarantee that the bonds will be promptly paid for when ready for delivery. The bonds of those to whom the bonds are not awarded, will be returned on or before September 8th 1897. The bonds will not be sold for less than their par value, and the right and privilege is reserved by the Board of Education to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board.

W. T. MORRIS, Clerk.

TIRES THAT LEAK.

The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire must be regarded as a distinct improvement in bicycle tire construction. It has the following advantages:

While punctures in it can be repaired with plugs, or semi-liquid injections, as well as in any other single-tube tire, it can be permanently repaired by using the quick-repair strip inside the tire. See cut No. 1.

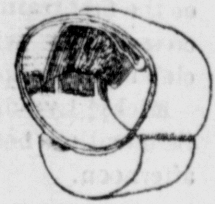

No. 1.

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, as in cut No. 2, the repair

No. 2.

No. 3.

strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, as in cut No. 3.

The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire is guaranteed not porous. This is on account of the way in which it is made. Nearly every rider has heard of tires that "leak like a sieve."

Many tires rot, because water gets into the fabric between the two layers of rubber. The Morgan & Wright fabric is proof against moisture.

Everybody knows how comfortable Morgan & Wright tires are, and yet how seldom they puncture. This is due to the fabric.

Ask any bicycle dealer whether other tires last as long as Morgan & Wright tires. Ask, also, what the Morgan & Wright guarantee means. Morgan & Wright tires are repaired free of charge, at the factory in Chicago or at any of the Morgan & Wright free repair shops, located in the principal cities.

N. B.—When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.
